- Je sais utiliser correctement les modaux (can/may, can/could, ought to, need, have to, must) pour demander la permission, exprimer la possibilité, l'obligation ou la déduction.
- Je sais comprendre des textes oraux sur le travail communautaire (appel au « bush clearing », « njangi ») et le règlement de différends par les notables.
- Je sais employer les structures d'expression du but (to, in order to, so that), du résultat (so... that, such... that) et de la préférence (would rather, prefer).
- Je sais lire et analyser des textes sur les activités récréatives traditionnelles (lutte traditionnelle, danse, jeux de société) et modernes.
- Je sais conjuguer et utiliser le present perfect et le past perfect pour relier passé et présent dans des récits d'événements communautaires.

1 FÊTES COMMUNAUTAIRES : INTERACTIONS SOCIALES & VOCABULAIRE

1.1 Introduction : a festival in Ngousso

In the Ngousso neighbourhood of Yaoundé, the young people of the association “Jeunesse Unie” (United Youth) are organising the maize harvest festival. It is a big project! They must ask the quarter head (chef de quartier) for permission to use the community hall. They must calm down two neighbours (voisins) who are angry about the noise of the drums. They must plan re-creational activities (activités récréatives) — football, dancing, singing — to bring the community together. To succeed, they must master the art of communicating with everybody : mates (camarades), adults (adultes) and authorities (autorités).

Problematic : How can we express permission, obligation, purpose and result in English so that this festival strengthens social cohesion instead of creating tensions?

In this first part of the lesson, we will identify the actors of a community festival, learn the vocabulary of celebrations, and practise the polite formulas adapted to each person we speak to.

1.2 The actors of a community festival

A festival is never organised by one person. It is a collective work. Let us identify the actors with their English names and their roles.

Actor (English)	French gloss	Role in the festival
Mates / peers	camarades, jeunes du même âge	They give ideas, dance, play music, do the cleanup.
Neighbours	voisins	They host visitors, lend chairs, but may complain about noise.
Adults / parents	adultes, parents	They cook, give advice, contribute money.
School authorities	chef d'établissement, surveillants	The Principal authorises the use of the school hall or field.
Traditional authorities	chef de quartier, notable, la-mido	They bless the event, settle disputes, give official permission.
Administrative authorities	sous-préfet, maire	They give the official authorisation for public events.

DÉFINITION Community festival

A community festival is a recurrent public event that celebrates the cultural, agricultural or historical identity of a community. It implies collective preparation (planning, fundraising, rehearsals) and intergenerational participation : young people, adults and elders all take part.

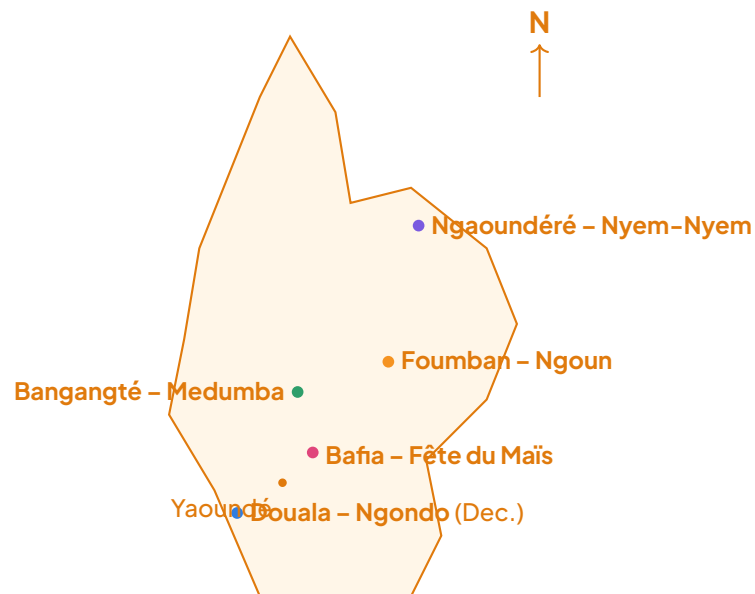

ATTENTION Mates : un mot à manier avec prudence

A frequent mistake : in informal British and Australian English, mates means “friends” or “peers”. But in other contexts, cell mates means “compagnons de cellule en prison” ! In formal writing in Cameroon, prefer peers or fellow youth. Keep mates for friendly spoken exchanges : “Hey mates, let’s meet at 4 p.m. !”

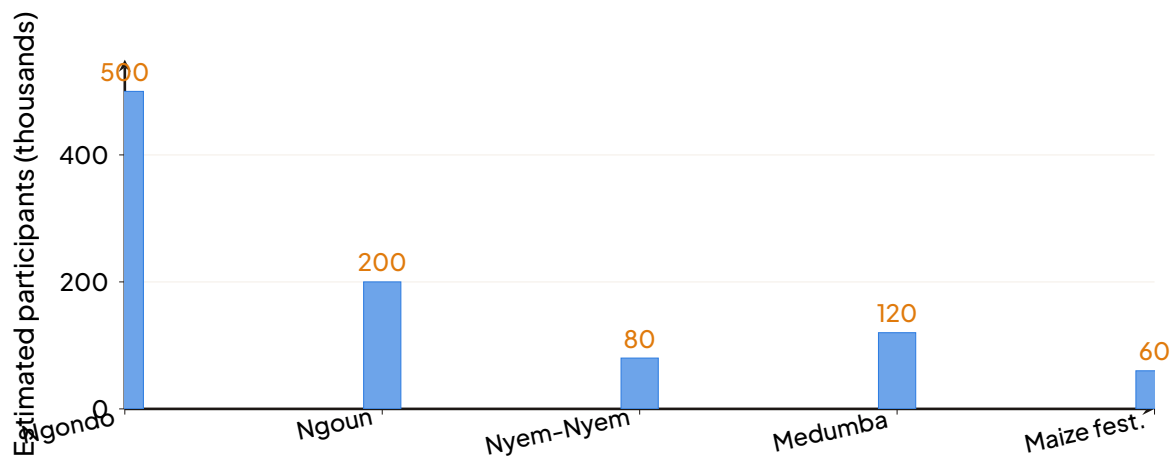

1.3 Vocabulary of festivals in Cameroon

Cameroon is rich in community festivals. Each region has its own celebration, and each one is an opportunity to interact with mates, neighbours and authorities.

Festival	Place / People	What is celebrated
Ngondo	Douala (Sawa people)	Water cult, canoe races, messages of the ancestors (December).
Ngoun	Foumban (Bamoun people)	Great cultural and royal festival of the Bamoun kingdom.
Nyem-Nyem	Ngaoundéré (Adamaoua)	Festival of the Nyem-Nyem people : dances, horses, traditions.
Medumba	Bangangté (West)	Cultural festival of the Medumba people.
Maize festival	Bafia (Centre)	Harvest festival : the new maize is presented and shared.
Cultural week	Schools everywhere	Dances, sketches, traditional meals, Miss/Mister culture.

Schematic map of Cameroon locating five major community festivals : Ngondo (Douala), Ngoun (Fouban), Nyem-Nyem (Ngaoundéré), Medumba (Bangangté) and the Maize festival (Bafia). Simplified outline, indicative scale.

Estimated number of participants (in thousands) for five Cameroonian festivals, approximate figures from press reports. The Ngondo is by far the biggest gathering.

EXEMPLE The Ngondo in figures

The Ngondo 2023 mobilised about 500000 spectators over 3 weeks. The estimated budget was 150 million FCFA. The organisation required 12 sectoral committees and about 800 volunteers (bénévoles). This shows that a festival is a real project, with planning, money management and teamwork.

LESAVAIS-TU ? The spirit of “njangi”

The word njangi (tontine, collective work) comes from the Bassa word njanji, which means “to help one another” (s’entraider). This spirit of mutual aid still structures the organisation of festivals in the Littoral and the South-West : each family contributes money, food or work, exactly like the young people of “Jeunesse Unie” in Ngouso.

1.4 The stages of a festival : from planning to cleanup

Organising a festival follows clear stages. Learn this vocabulary chain — you will need it in all your compositions.

1. Planning (planification) : the committee meets, fixes the date, the place and the programme. “We should plan the festival two months ahead.”
2. Fundraising (collecte de fonds) : members contribute, a njangi is launched, sponsors are contacted. “We need to raise 200 000 FCFA for the drums and the food.”
3. Invitation : letters are sent to the authorities, posters are designed. “We would like to invite the Divisional Officer to our festival.”
4. Rehearsal (répétition) : dancers and musicians practise. “The dance group must rehearse every Saturday.”
5. D-day (le jour J) : the festival takes place. “On D-day, everybody must be at the hall at 7 a.m.”
6. Cleanup (nettoyage) : the place is cleaned after the event. “Let’s not leave the field dirty ; let’s clean up together.”

1.5 Polite formulas : adapting your language to your interlocutor

This is the heart of social interaction. In English, as in our communities, you do not speak to the Principal as you speak to your best friend. The level of politeness changes.

Interlocutor	Formula	Example
A mate / peer	Hey, can you... ? / Let’s...	“Hey Bih, can you bring the speaker tomorrow?”
An adult / neighbour	Excuse me, Sir/Madam, may I... ? / Could you please... ?	“Excuse me, Madam, could you please lend us some chairs?”
An authority	Good morning + title. We would like to request... / May we... ?	“Good morning, Principal. We would like to request the use of the school hall.”

PROPRIÉTÉ Modals of permission and possibility – preview

- can / may : permission. May is more formal than can. “May we use the hall?” (to an authority) vs “Can I borrow your pen?” (to a mate).
- can / could : possibility. Could is more polite/tentative. “Could you help us?”
- ought to / should : advice, moral obligation. “We ought to respect the neighbours.”
- must : strong obligation (internal) or deduction. “We must clean up.” / “He must be the chief.”
- have to / don’t have to : external obligation / absence of obligation.
- need / needn’t : necessity / absence of necessity.

Detailed practice in Section 2.

MÉTHODE How to address an authority

To make a request to an authority (Principal, quarter head, Divisional Officer), follow this five-step structure :

1. Greeting : Good morning, + title : Principal / Sir / Chief.
2. Polite request with may / could / would : We would like to request... / May we use... ?
3. Justification : ...because we are organising the harvest festival for the youth of the quarter.
4. Practical details : date, time, number of people.
5. Anticipated thanks : Thank you very much for your kind consideration.

EXEMPLE Three typical scenarios

1. Asking for the community hall : “Good morning, Chief. We are the members of ‘Jeunesse Unie’. May we use the community hall on Saturday 14th for our maize festival? We shall clean it after the event. Thank you, Sir.”
2. Negotiating the sound volume with neighbours : “Excuse me, Mr Essomba. We are sorry about the noise. Could we agree on this : we will reduce the volume after 9 p.m. ?”
3. Coordinating rehearsals with mates : “Hey mates, let’s rehearse on Wednesday at 4 p.m. behind the school. Don’t be late!”

1.6 Document analysis : a real poster

Here is the text of a poster for the Fête du Maïs in Bafia. Read it and extract the key information.

EXEMPLE Poster : Bafia Maize Festival

BAFIA MAIZE FESTIVAL – 12th EDITION

Date : Saturday 21 and Sunday 22 December, from 9 a.m.

Place : Bafia Municipal Stadium

Organisers : Bafia Youth Association, with the support of the City Council

Activities : traditional dances, maize dishes competition, football match, canoe race on the Mbam river, Miss Maize election.

Contacts : President 6XX XX XX XX – free entrance for children under 10.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 1 Extracting information from the poster

Énoncé : Answer in full sentences. (a) When does the festival take place ? (b) Where does it take place ? (c) Who organises it ? (d) Name two activities. (e) Who can enter free of charge ?

SOLUTION

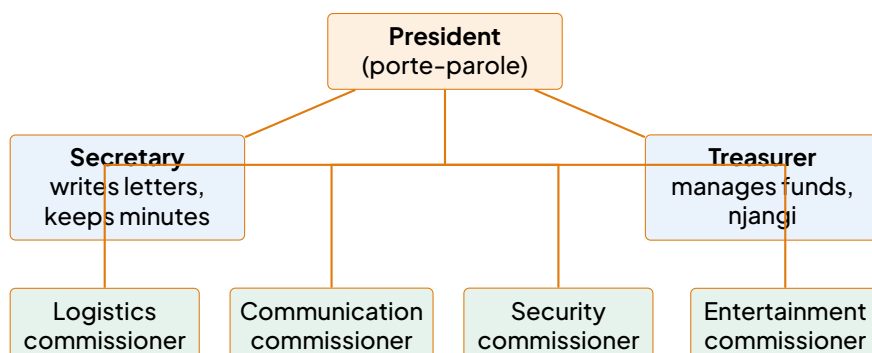

Solution détaillée :

- (a) The festival takes place on Saturday 21 and Sunday 22 December, from 9 a.m.
- (b) It takes place at the Bafia Municipal Stadium.
- (c) It is organised by the Bafia Youth Association, with the support of the City Council.
- (d) Two activities are the traditional dances and the maize dishes competition (also : football match, canoe race, Miss Maize election).
- (e) Children under 10 can enter free of charge.

Method : to extract information, first scan the poster for wh-words answers : date (when), place (where), organisers (who), activities (what).

1.7 Guided role-play : the organising committee

A festival is managed by a committee (comité). Each member has a function and must speak accordingly.

Organisation chart of a typical festival committee : the President (spokesperson) coordinates the Secretary, the Treasurer and four commissioners (Logistics, Communication, Security, Entertainment).

EXPÉRIENCE Simulating a committee meeting

Material : role cards (President, Secretary, Treasurer, Logistics commissioner, spokesperson), the Bafia poster, a meeting agenda.

Protocol :

1. Form groups of five and distribute the roles.
2. The President opens the meeting : “Good afternoon, mates. Let’s plan our harvest festival.”
3. The Treasurer reports : “We have raised 85 000 FCFA, but we need 120 000. We should organise a njangi.”
4. The Logistics commissioner asks a mate : “Can you book the drums?” then an adult : “Excuse me, Sir, could you lend us your generator?”
5. The spokesperson rehearses the request to the quarter head, using the five-step method.
6. The Secretary writes the minutes (compte rendu) in English.

Observation : the level of language changes with the interlocutor : can with mates, could/may with adults, would like to request with authorities.

Interpretation : choosing the right register is a social skill : it shows respect, obtains permissions, and prevents conflicts — exactly what the “Jeunesse Unie” needs in Ngousso.

EXERCICE 1 Practising interactions

1. Rewrite these sentences with the correct level of politeness. (a) To a mate : ask him to bring chairs. (b) To a neighbour : ask her to reduce her generator noise. (c) To the Principal : ask for the school field.

2. Complete the dialogue with : may, can, would like, let's.
 - A : Good morning, Chief. We ... request your blessing for our festival.
 - B : You are welcome, my children. ... you organise it peacefully?
 - C : Yes, Sir. ... meet next week to prepare everything!
3. Match the stage to the definition : planning, fundraising, rehearsal, D-day, cleanup / (i) the event itself, (ii) collecting money, (iii) preparing the programme, (iv) practising dances, (v) washing and tidying after the event.

CORRIGÉ Exercice : Practising interactions

1. (a) Hey, can you bring some chairs, please? (b) Excuse me, Madam, could you please reduce the noise of your generator? (c) Good morning, Principal. We would like to request the use of the school field for our festival.
2. may (or would like to request : "We would like to request"), Can, Let's.
3. planning – (iii) ; fundraising – (ii) ; rehearsal – (iv) ; D-day – (i) ; cleanup – (v).

À RETENIR Key points of this section

- A community festival celebrates the identity of a community and requires collective preparation : planning, fundraising, invitation, rehearsal, D-day, cleanup.
- The actors are mates/peers, neighbours, adults, school authorities and traditional authorities.
- Adapt your politeness : can with mates, could/may with adults, we would like to request with authorities.
- To address an authority : Greeting + title + polite request + justification + anticipated thanks.
- Cameroonian festivals (Ngondo, Ngoun, Nyem-Nyem, Medumba, Maize festival) are real projects, organised by committees in the spirit of njangi (mutual aid).
- Grammar preview : modals can/may (permission), can/could (possibility), ought to/should (advice), must (obligation/deduction), have to/don't have to, need/needn't. Detailed study in Section 2.
- Let's / Let's not + bare infinitive for suggestions (e.g., Let's rehearse, Let's not leave the field dirty).

2 MODAUX : PERMISSION, POSSIBILITÉ, OBLIGATION, DÉDUCTION

Dans la section précédente, nous avons acquis le vocabulaire essentiel pour décrire les fêtes communautaires, les rôles des participants (le chef traditionnel, les notables, la jeunesse, l'administration) et les préparatifs matériels. Désormais, pour interagir efficacement dans ces contextes — demander l'autorisation d'utiliser la salle des fêtes, négocier le prêt d'un groupe électrogène, conseiller un camarade sur son comportement, ou déduire ce qui s'est passé en notre absence — nous avons besoin d'outils grammaticaux précis : les verbes modaux. En anglais technique et professionnel, le choix du modal détermine le niveau de politesse, la clarté de l'instruction et la crédibilité de l'interlocuteur. Cette section les passe en revue un par un, avec des contextes camerounais authentiques.

2.1 Permission : can (informel) vs may (formel)

Lorsque vous vous adressez à un pair (camarade, voisin, frère), can est la norme. Face à une autorité (proviseur, chef de quartier, chef traditionnel, parent), may marque le respect dû au rang.

EXEMPLE Demander l'accès à la salle des fêtes

Contexte : Le délégué de classe s'adresse au proviseur pour le festival interculturel.

- Élève à élève : "Can I use the microphone for the rehearsal?" (Tu peux / Est-ce que je peux utiliser le micro pour la répétition?) — Registre familier / standard.
- Élève à proviseur : "May we have the key to the school hall, Principal?" (Pourrions-nous avoir la clé de la salle des fêtes, Monsieur le Proviseur?) — Registre formel, marque de déférence.

Vocabulaire clé : rehearsal (répétition), deference (déférence, respect), school hall (salle des fêtes / amphithéâtre).

PROPRIÉTÉ May : restriction temporelle

May s'utilise uniquement au présent pour exprimer la permission. Pour le passé, on ne dit pas "I mayed go" mais "I was allowed to go" (j'ai eu la permission d'aller) ou "I had permission to go".

Temps	Permission accordée	Permission refusée
Présent	You may enter. / You can enter.	You may not / cannot enter.
Passé	You were allowed to enter.	You were not allowed to enter.

3 TRAVAIL COMMUNAUTAIRE & RÈGLEMENT DE CONFLITS : ÉCOUTE & VOCABULAIRE

In the previous section, we learnt how to use modals to ask for permission (May I join the work?), to express obligation (Everyone must attend) and to make deductions (He must be the elder). These tools are exactly what we need now, because in this section we enter the heart of village life in Cameroon : communal work and the settlement of community disputes. When a village calls its people to clear the bush, or when two neighbours quarrel about the boundary of a farm, English is one of the languages used to announce, to discuss, to judge and to reconcile. Let us learn how.

3.1 Key vocabulary : communal work and dispute settlement

DÉFINITION Communal work and dispute settlement

Communal work (or community work) is unpaid collective work done by the members of a community for the common good : clearing the village square, repairing a bridge, digging a water source. A dispute is a serious disagreement or conflict between people (a grievance is a complaint, something you feel is unfair). To settle a dispute means to find a solution accepted by both sides, often with the help of a mediator (in traditional society, an elder or a notable).

English term	Meaning	French gloss
bush clearing	cutting grass and cleaning public places	débroussaillage
call to community work	official announcement summoning people to work	appel au travail communautaire fine / penalty	money (or goods) paid as a punishment	amende / sanction
mediator / elder	person who helps two sides to agree	médiateur / ancien dispute / grievance	conflict / complaint	conflit / grief
consensus	general agreement of everybody	consensus
apology	words said to show regret (« I am sorry »)	excuse
reconciliation	restoration of friendship after a conflict	réconciliation
peace plant	plant (dracaena) used to seal peace	plante de paix

DÉFINITION The peace plant

The peace plant (Dracaena arborea) is a symbolic plant used in the Grassfields regions and in the South of Cameroon to seal a reconciliation. During the ceremony, each party holds one end of a leaf or stem; the breaking of the plant seals the agreement : the conflict is broken like the stem, and peace is planted like the dracaena, which grows again even from a small cutting.

LE SAVAIS-TU ? Did you know ? The njangi

In many Cameroonian villages, the njangi (collective work or rotating savings group) is regulated by internal rules. If a member is absent without excuse, the fine can be paid in kind — a bottle of palm oil, a bag of maize, a fowl — or in cash, according to the village's internal regulations. The fine is not a revenge : it is a way to protect the common good.

3.2 Structure of a call to community work

A call to community work is a short official announcement, read by the town crier or the secretary of the traditional council. It always contains three blocks :

1. Announcement (l'annonce) : date, time, place, tools required.
2. Motivation (la motivation) : why the work matters for the common good.
3. Sanction (la sanction) : the fine for anyone absent without a valid excuse.

EXEMPLE A model call to community work

« Attention please ! The Traditional Council of Bapa informs all the inhabitants that there will be a general bush clearing on Saturday 14th June at 7 a.m. at the market square. Every family must send one person with a cutlass, a hoe or a rake. This work will make our market clean and healthy before the rainy season. Anyone absent without a valid excuse will pay a fine of 1 000 FCFA. Long live our village ! »

ATTENTION Common mistake with « apologise »

Many students write : « He apologised me ». This is incorrect. The verb to apologise is followed by the preposition to : « He apologised to me » or « He said sorry to me ». Similarly : « She apologised for her lateness » (for + the reason).

3.3 Listening : a boundary dispute settled by the elder

Here is the script of a typical listening text. Read it aloud in groups of four (one student is Ngong, one is Fopa, one is Mama Rose, one is Elder Tabi), then answer the comprehension questions.

EXEMPLE Listening script : « The farm boundary »

Elder Tabi : My children, we are here to settle the dispute between Ngong and Fopa about the boundary of their farms. Let's hear both sides. Ngong, speak first.

Ngong : Papa, Fopa planted cassava on my land. He crossed the old boundary by three metres!

Fopa : It is not true! My father planted there before I was born. That strip of land belongs to my family.

Elder Tabi : Do you have a witness?

Ngong : Yes. Mama Rose saw where the old boundary stones were placed.

Mama Rose : I confirm : the stones were near the big mango tree, not near the stream.

Elder Tabi : The council of elders has deliberated. The boundary is the line of the old stones, near the mango tree. Fopa, you ought to remove your cassava after the harvest, and you must not plant there again. What do you propose to repair the offence?

Fopa : I apologise to Ngong. I offer him two baskets of cassava from this harvest.

Ngong : I accept his apology. We agree that the mango tree line is the boundary.

Elder Tabi : The matter is settled. Both of you will now hold the peace plant and swear to live as brothers. After that, we shall share the kola nut.

MÉTHODE How to take notes on an oral mediation text

When you listen to a mediation dialogue, do not write full sentences. Note five points only :

1. Parties in conflict : who is quarrelling ? (Ngong vs Fopa)
2. Object of the dispute : what is it about ? (a farm boundary)
3. Key arguments : what does each side claim ? (witness, old stones)
4. Decision : what is the verdict ? (boundary = mango tree line)
5. Sanction / commitment : fine, apology, oath ? (cassava offered, oath on the peace plant)

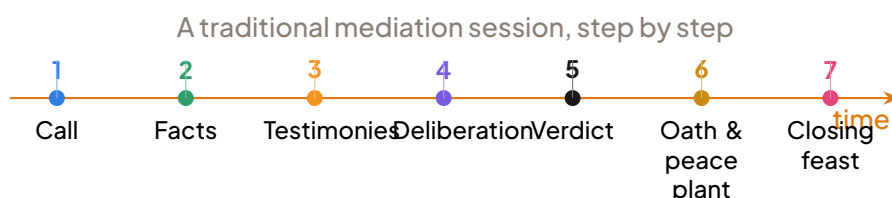

This five-point grid is exactly what the examiner expects in a listening comprehension at the Probatoire technique.

À RETENIR Mediation expressions

- Let's hear both sides. = Écoutons les deux parties.
- What do you propose? = Que proposes-tu?
- We agree that... = Nous convenons que...
- The matter is settled. = L'affaire est réglée.
- I accept your apology. = J'accepte tes excuses.
- Let us swear on the peace plant. = Jurons sur la plante de paix.

3.4 The stages of a traditional mediation session

A traditional mediation follows a fixed order, like a scientific protocol. Observe the timeline below and memorise the seven stages.

Timeline of a traditional mediation : 1. Call of the parties; 2. Statement of the facts; 3. Testimonies of witnesses; 4. Deliberation of the elders; 5. Verdict; 6. Oath and reconciliation on the peace plant; 7. Closing feast (kola nut, food and drink shared by all).

Notice how the modal verbs of Section 2 appear at each stage : the parties must attend (obligation), witnesses may speak (permission), the elders ought to be fair (advice), and « the thief must be ashamed » (deduction).

3.5 Analysing a real reconciliation report (PV)

After the oath, the secretary writes an official report, called in Cameroon a procès-verbal (PV) of reconciliation. Here is an anonymised authentic model. Study its structure.

EXAMPLE PV of reconciliation (anonymised)

RECONCILIATION REPORT — Village of B.

Date : 22/10/2022. Place : Palace of the Traditional Council.

Parties : Mr A. N. (complainant) vs Mr B. T. (defendant).

Object : Destruction of a fence and grazing of goats in a maize farm.

Facts heard : Both parties and two witnesses were heard.

Decision of the Council of Elders : The defendant shall rebuild the fence within two weeks and pay compensation of 15 000 FCFA. The complainant withdraws his grievance.

Commitment : The two parties held the peace plant, exchanged the kola nut and swore to live in peace.

Signed : the parties (or their fingerprints), two witnesses, the secretary, the president of the council.

PROPRIÉTÉ Structure of a reconciliation report

A good PV of reconciliation always contains : (1) the heading (place, date), (2) the parties, (3) the object of the dispute, (4) the facts heard, (5) the decision with sanctions or compensation, (6) the commitment (oath, peace plant, kola), (7) the signatures. In Cameroon it may be written in English, in French, or with formulas in the local language, and the kola nut exchanged is the living symbol of the agreement.

EXEMPLE A convincing figure

In 2022, the Bapa community (West Region) settled 47 land disputes through traditional mediation; 0 case was taken to court. The average cost of a mediation was about 5 000 FCFA (kola, drinks, small gifts to the elders), against about 200 000 FCFA for a court case (lawyer, transport, files). Mediation is therefore about 40 times cheaper ($200\,000 \div 5\,000 = 40$) — and much faster.

To confirm these figures, researchers analysed a corpus of 50 reconciliation reports and counted how often the key words appear. The word cloud below shows the result : the bigger the word, the more frequent it is.

Word cloud built from a corpus of 50 reconciliation reports (West and North-West Regions, 2019–2023). Word size is proportional to frequency : peace (48 occurrences), elder (41), land (33), kola (26), fine (19), forgive (17), unity (15).

3.6 Lexical trap : « settle a dispute » vs « settle in »

ATTENTION One verb, two meanings

The verb to settle changes meaning with the particle :

- to settle a dispute = to resolve a conflict. « The elders settled the dispute in one morning. » (résoudre)
- to settle in = to install yourself comfortably in a new place. « My uncle settled in Douala last year. » (s'installer)

Never translate « s'installer » by settle a dispute ! Context decides the meaning.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 2 Guided exercise : complete the mediation dialogue

Complete the dialogue with : both sides, propose, apology, settled, fine, consensus.

Elder : « Let's hear Mr Ali, what do you ? »

Mr Ali : « I offer my to Mr Bello and I will pay the of 2 000 FCFA. »

Elder : « Is there a ? — All : Yes! — Then the matter is ! »

SOLUTION

Solution : Let's hear both sides. Mr Ali, what do you propose ? — I offer my apology to Mr Bello and I will pay the fine of 2 000 FCFA. — Is there a consensus ? — Then the matter is settled !

Explanation : « both sides » follows « hear » ; « propose » is the verb of suggestion used by mediators ; « apology » is offered (and accepted) ; the « fine » is paid ; the « consensus » is the agreement of all ; « settled » is the past participle in the fixed formula « The matter is settled ».

EXERCICE 2 Practice

Exercise 1 (Vocabulary). Match the words to their definitions : bush clearing, mediator, grievance, reconciliation, peace plant.

a) a person who helps two enemies to agree ; b) a complaint ; c) collective cleaning of public places ; d) the plant broken to seal peace ; e) the return of friendship after a conflict.

Exercise 2 (Listening). Listen to the script « The farm boundary » read by your teacher and fill the five-point note grid : parties, object, key arguments, decision, sanction/commitment.

Exercise 3 (Writing). Write a call to community work (8–10 lines) for the cleaning of your school campus before the end-of-year festival : announcement (date, time, place, tools), motivation, sanction.

CORRIGÉ Exercise 1

a) mediator ; b) grievance ; c) bush clearing ; d) peace plant ; e) reconciliation.

CORRIGÉ Exercises 2 and 3

Exercise 2 : Parties : Ngong vs Fopa. Object : farm boundary (three metres of land). Key arguments : Ngong claims Fopa crossed the boundary ; Fopa claims family ownership ; Mama Rose confirms the old stones near the mango tree. Decision : boundary = line of the old stones ; Fopa removes the cassava after harvest. Commitment : apology, two baskets of cassava, oath on the peace plant, kola shared.

Exercise 3 (model answer) : « Attention please ! The Principal and the Students' Council inform all students that there will be a general cleaning of the school campus on Friday 20th June at 7 a.m. Every class must bring brooms, rakes and cutlasses. A clean campus will make our end-of-year festival beautiful and healthy. Any class absent without a valid excuse will clean the toilets for one week. Long live our school ! »

À RETENIR To remember

Communal work is announced by a call to community work (announcement + motivation + sanction). Disputes are settled by mediation : both sides are heard, witnesses testify, the elders deliberate, the verdict is given, and the parties swear on the peace plant and share the kola nut. The report of the session is the PV of reconciliation. Remember : apologise to somebody, settle a dispute (résoudre) ≠ settle in (s'installer).

In the next section, we will learn how to express purpose, result, preference and obligation — the grammar you need to explain why people take part in communal work : « They clear the bush in order to keep the village clean. »

4 EXPRIMER BUT, RÉSULTAT, PRÉFÉRENCE & OBLIGATION

In the previous section, we listened to texts about communal work and settling community disputes. We heard sentences like : “The villagers came together so that the dispute could be settled peacefully” and “The meeting was so long that some people left early”. These sentences do more than describe facts : they explain why people act (purpose), what happens as a consequence (result), what people prefer (preference) and what people must do (obligation). In this section, we learn to build these four types of links between ideas. They are essential tools for the Probatoire and Baccalauréat technique, both in the grammar exercise and in essay writing.

4.1 Expressing purpose : to / in order to / so as to

DÉFINITION Purpose — le but

A purpose expression answers the question why? or what for?. When the subject of the main clause and the subject of the purpose action are the same person or thing, we use :

- to + infinitive (neutral, very common);
- in order to + infinitive (more formal, used in speeches and official letters);
- so as to + infinitive (formal, slightly less frequent).

EXEMPLE Same subject — purpose with infinitive

- We organise this festival to promote unity in our quarter.
- The students cleaned the market square in order to prepare the celebration.
- The chief arrived early so as to welcome the guests.

French gloss : in order to = afin de ; so as to = de manière à.

ATTENTION Negative purpose

To express a negative purpose, do not say *"to not offend". Say : so as not to / in order not to + infinitive.

- ✓ We spoke quietly so as not to disturb the elders.
- × *We spoke quietly to not disturb the elders.

4.2 Purpose with a different subject : so that / in order that

Now observe this sentence from a community meeting in Bertoua : "We start early so that the chief can attend." Who starts early? We. Who attends? The chief. The two subjects are different, so an infinitive is impossible. We need a full clause introduced by so that or in order that.

PROPRIÉTÉ Rule : same subject or different subject ?

- Same subject in both actions → to / in order to / so as to + infinitive.
We start early to welcome the chief. (we / we)
- Different subjects → so that / in order that + subject + can/could (present/future) meaning) or will/would (after a past tense).

We start early so that the chief can attend.
We started early so that the chief could attend.

MÉTHODE The “so that” test — but ou résultat ?

To check whether so that expresses purpose :

1. Replace so that by in order that.
2. If the sentence is still correct and still answers the question why?, it is a purpose clause.
3. If the sentence answers what happened next?, it is a result clause (see below).

Example : “We spoke slowly so that everyone could understand” → “in order that everyone could understand” is correct → purpose.

4.3 Expressing result : so ... that and such ... that

DÉFINITION Result — la conséquence

A result clause expresses the consequence of a quality or a situation. Two structures :

- so + adjective / adverb + that + clause ;
- such + (a/an) + (adjective) + noun + that + clause.

EXEMPLE Result in context

- The music was so loud that the neighbours complained. (so + adjective)
- The dancers performed so well that the crowd applauded for ten minutes. (so + adverb)
- It was such a successful festival that we will repeat it next year. (such + a + adjective + noun)
- They made such progress that the dispute was settled in one day. (such + uncountable noun, no article)

MÉTHODE The “so ... that” test

If you can replace the whole structure by “and therefore” or “and as a result”, it is a result clause, not a purpose clause.

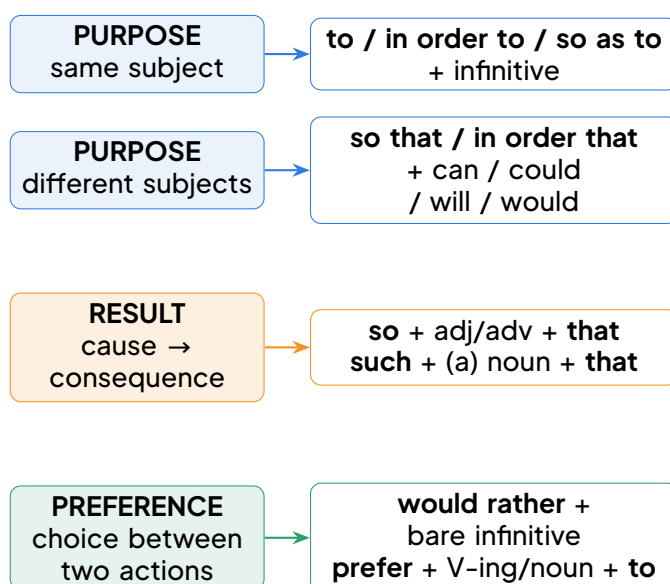

The music was so loud that the neighbours complained → The music was very loud, and therefore the neighbours complained. Correct → result.

ATTENTION so or such?

Choose according to the word that follows :

- so + adjective/adverb alone : so tired, so quickly.
- such + noun group : such a good idea, such noise, such beautiful dances.

Common error : * “so a good idea” → such a good idea.

Syntax map : how to choose the right structure. 1. Purpose with the same subject → infinitive. 2. Purpose with different subjects → so that + clause. 3. Result → so/such ... that. 4. Preference → would rather or prefer ... to.

4.4 Expressing preference : would rather and prefer

DÉFINITION Preference — la préférence

To say what we like or choose between two options :

- would rather + bare infinitive (infinitive without to) ; comparison with than + bare infinitive.
- prefer + noun/V-ing + to + noun/V-ing.

EXEMPLE Preferences at the festival

- I'd rather dance than watch. (would rather + V ... than + V)
- We'd rather not play music after midnight. (negative : would rather not + V)
- I prefer traditional wrestling to football. (prefer + noun + to + noun)
- She prefers singing to dancing. (prefer + V-ing + to + V-ing)

French gloss : I'd rather = je préférerais ; I prefer X to Y = je préfère X à Y.

ATTENTION The most frequent error

Would rather is followed by the infinitive without to :

× *I'd rather to go home.

✓ I'd rather go home.

Also note : after prefer ... to, the word to is a preposition, so use a noun or V-ing, never the bare infinitive : *"I prefer wrestling to play football" → I prefer wrestling to football / I prefer wrestling to playing football.

4.5 External obligation : have to / have got to vs must

DÉFINITION Obligation — l'obligation

- must + bare infinitive : the obligation comes from the speaker (internal obligation, personal conviction).
- have to / have got to + bare infinitive : the obligation comes from an outside rule or authority (external obligation : law, school rules, council decisions).

EXEMPLE Internal or external obligation ?

- We have to get a permit from the council before the festival. (external : the law requires it)
- Students have to wear their uniform at the school celebration. (external : school rule)
- I must apologise to my neighbour ; I was wrong. (internal : my own decision)

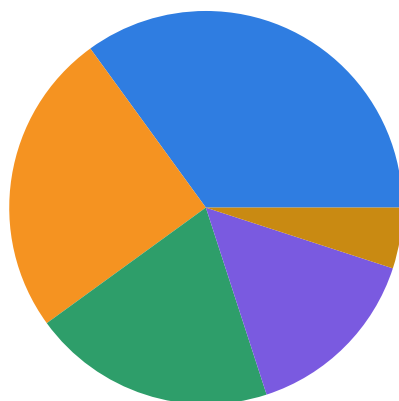

French gloss : a permit = une autorisation ; the council = la mairie / la communauté urbaine.

À RETENIR Summary table

Function	Structure	Example
Purpose (same subject)	to / in order to / so as to + V	We meet to plan the festival.
Purpose (different subjects)	so that can/could/will/would	We meet early so that the chief can come.
Result	so + adj/adv + that	It was so noisy that babies cried.
Result	such + (a) + noun + that	It was such a success that we will repeat it.
Preference	would rather + V (than + V)	I'd rather dance than watch.
Preference	prefer + noun/V-ing + to	I prefer wrestling to football.
Obligation (external)	have to + V	We have to inform the authorities.
Obligation (internal)	must + V	I must respect the elders.

EXEMPLE A pedagogical illustration — Ngondo festival speeches

In the opening speeches of the Ngondo festival (Douala, Sawa people), purpose clauses (so that, in order that) dominate because official speeches explain why the community acts. Result clauses (so ... that, such ... that) describe the impact of past editions. Preference structures (would rather, prefer) appear when speakers compare traditional and modern forms of celebration. This mirrors exactly the skills you need in your essays : explain purpose, show results, express preferences.

- Traditional wrestling (35%)
- Dance (25%)
- Football (20%)
- Board games (15%)
- Other (5%)

Fictional survey : "Favourite recreational activity" among 200 secondary school students in Bertoua. Wrestling 35 % (70 students), dance 25 % (50), football 20 % (40), board games 15 % (30), other 5 % (10). Model sentence : Most students prefer traditional wrestling to football.

LESAVAIS-TU ? Had better — le conseil pressant (bonus)

Had better + bare infinitive expresses strong advice with an implicit negative consequence : "You'd better ask the chief before using the square" means if you don't, there may be trouble. It is stronger than should. Negative form : You'd better not arrive late. Note that despite the past form had, it refers to the present or future. Note : this structure is not in the official Première Tech syllabus but appears frequently in authentic texts.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 3 Combining sentences — Probatoire style

Task : Join each pair of sentences using the word(s) in brackets.

1. The youths cleaned the village square. They wanted to welcome the delegation. (in order to)
2. The hall was very small. Not everybody could enter. (so ... that)
3. I like dancing. I like watching football less. (would rather)
4. The meeting started at 6 a.m. The workers could attend before going to the fields. (so that)

SOLUTION

Detailed solution :

1. Same subject (the youths) → infinitive of purpose : The youths cleaned the village square in order to welcome the delegation.
2. Result of a quality (small = adjective) → so + adjective + that : The hall was so small that not everybody could enter.
3. Preference between two actions → would rather + bare infinitive + than : I would rather dance than watch football.
4. Different subjects (the meeting / the workers) → so that + could : The meeting started at 6 a.m. so that the workers could attend before going to the fields.

EXERCICE 3 Practice — combine and transform

Join each pair of sentences with the structure in brackets.

1. The festival was a great success. The mayor promised to finance it next year. (such ... that)
2. We must ask for a permit. The council requires it. (have to)
3. She prefers storytelling. She prefers it more than singing. (prefer ... to)
4. The elders spoke slowly. The young people could take notes. (in order that)
5. The drummers played very loudly. The whole village heard them. (so ... that)

CORRIGÉ Exercice — combine and transform

1. It was such a successful festival that the mayor promised to finance it next year. (such + a + adjective + noun + that)
2. We have to ask for a permit because the council requires it. (external obligation)
3. She prefers storytelling to singing. (prefer + noun + to + noun)
4. The elders spoke slowly in order that the young people could take notes. (different subjects → purpose clause)
5. The drummers played so loudly that the whole village heard them. (so + adverb + that)

À RETENIR Key points to remember

- Purpose, same subject : to / in order to / so as to + infinitive ; negative : so as not to.
- Purpose, different subjects : so that / in order that + can/could/will/would.
- Result : so + adjective/adverb + that ; such + (a) + noun + that.
- Preference : would rather + infinitive without to ; prefer + noun/V-ing + to.
- Obligation : must = internal ; have to = external (rules, law, authorities).

5 ACTIVITÉS RÉCRÉATIVES : LECTURE, VOCABULAIRE & PRESENT PERFECT / PAST PERFECT

After studying how to express purpose, result, preference and obligation, we now reach the cultural heart of this unit : traditional and modern recreational activities (activités récréatives). Understanding how Cameroonian communities celebrate, play and dance together will give us authentic content to master two essential tenses for narration and testimony : the present perfect (link between past and present) and the past perfect (an action completed before another past action).

À RETENIR Objectifs de la séance

À la fin de cette séquence, tu seras capable de :

- comprendre des textes sur les loisirs traditionnels et modernes au Cameroun ;
- utiliser correctement le vocabulaire des activités récréatives ;
- employer le present perfect et le past perfect dans un récit ou un témoignage ;
- rédiger un court paragraphe sur une activité récréative de ta communauté.

5.1 Lecture : trois regards sur les loisirs traditionnels

Read the three texts below for general understanding. Then find the target vocabulary words (in bold with ...) and the verb forms in present perfect or past perfect (in bold).

EXEMPLE Text 1 : Newspaper article — “Traditional wrestling, a social cement in the North” (adapted)

Every dry season, the villages of the Bénoué area vibrate to the rhythm of traditional wrestling (lutte traditionnelle). Last Sunday, the wrestling arena (arène de lutte) of Garoua welcomed more than 5,000 spectators. The referee (arbitre) whistled the start of the first round (manche) at exactly 4 p.m. The wrestlers, covered with oil and kaolin, fought with impressive technique. The winner received a trophy (trophée) offered by the Lamido. The festival has become a symbol of unity. Young people have never missed an edition since 2010. By the time the chief arrived, the wrestlers had already performed the ceremonial dance. The crowd had cheered loudly before the final match started.

EXAMPLE Text 2 : Youth blog — “My first Ngondo” (fictional testimony)

My name is Mireille, I am 17 and I live in Douala. I have just come back from the Ngondo festival on the Wouri river banks. It was magical! The drumbeat (battement de tam-tam) of the drums guided the choreography (chorégraphie) of the dancers. I have never seen such colourful pirogues racing on the water. My grandmother had told me many stories about the Jengu water spirits before I went there. When the sacred vase emerged, the initiates had already disappeared into the water. Since that day, I have felt a stronger connection to my Sawa heritage.

EXAMPLE Text 3 : Cultural report — “Ancestral board games : songo and nku”

In the Centre and South regions, evening gatherings are never silent. Around a wooden board game (jeu de plateau), two players compete at songo (also called awalé). Every seed (graine / pion) counts. The strategy (stratégie) consists in capturing the opponent's seeds. Researchers have studied this game for decades. It has spread in many variants across Cameroon. Long before modern schools existed, elders had used games like the nku to teach counting and quick thinking. By the time the funeral wake started, the players had set up the board to entertain the guests, as tradition recommends.

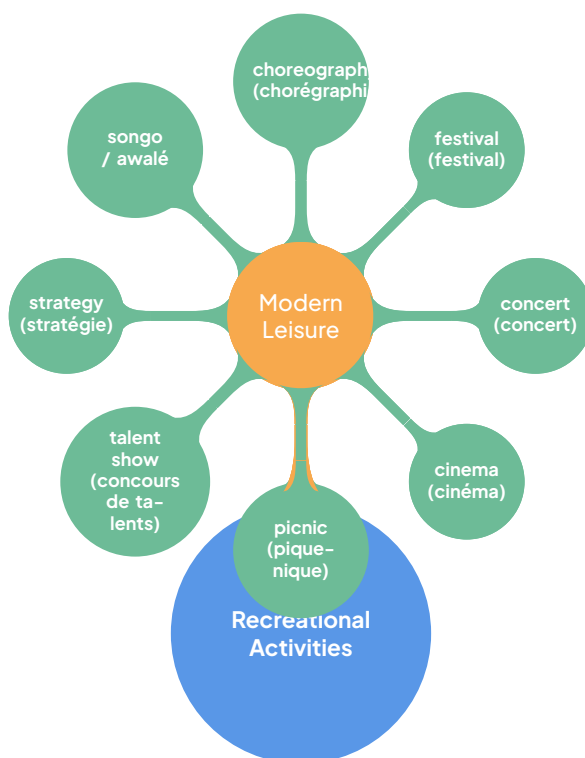

EXERCISE 4 Reading comprehension

Answer these questions in full sentences.

1. Where does the wrestling festival in Text 1 take place, and when?
2. Who offered the trophy to the winner?
3. In Text 2, what had Mireille's grandmother done before Mireille went to the festival?
4. What is the Ngondo festival connected to?
5. In Text 3, what is the aim of the strategy in the songo game?
6. Find one sentence in each text with the present perfect and one with the past perfect.

CORRIGÉ Exercice : Reading comprehension

1. It takes place in Garoua (Bénoué area, North of Cameroon), during the dry season.
2. The Lamido offered the trophy.
3. She had told Mireille many stories about the Jengu water spirits.
4. It is connected to the Sawa people and the Wouri river (water spirits / Jengu cult).
5. The aim is to capture the opponent's seeds.
6. Examples : Text 1 — present perfect : "The festival has become a symbol of unity"; past perfect : "the wrestlers had already performed the ceremonial dance". Text 2 — present perfect : "I have never seen such colourful pirogues"; past perfect : "My grandmother had told me many stories". Text 3 — present perfect : "It has spread in many variants"; past perfect : "the players had set up the board".

5.3 Grammaire 1 : le present perfect

DÉFINITION Present perfect — forme

Affirmative : sujet + have/has + participe passé (V-ed ou 3^e colonne).

Negative : sujet + have/has + not + participe passé.

Interrogative : Have/Has + sujet + participe passé ?

- I have visited the Ngondo festival twice.
- She has never missed an edition.
- Have you ever played songo ?

PROPRIÉTÉ Present perfect — emplois

On utilise le present perfect pour :

1. une action passée liée au présent (résultat visible maintenant) : I have lost my trophy. (je ne l'ai plus) ;
2. une expérience de vie (avec ever, never) : Have you ever seen traditional wrestling ? ;
3. une action qui continue jusqu'à maintenant (avec since + point de départ, for + durée) : The festival has existed since 1950. / for more than 70 years. ;
4. une action très récente (avec just, already, yet) : I have just come back from the concert.

ATTENTION Pièges fréquents

- Jamais de present perfect avec un moment passé précis (yesterday, last year, in 2010) : on dit I saw the match yesterday (past simple), pas I have seen the match yesterday.
- Since + point de départ (since 2010) ; for + durée (for ten years).

- N'oublie pas le participe passé : gone (et non goed), seen, taken, won.

5.4 Grammaire 2 : le past perfect

DÉFINITION Past perfect — forme et emploi

Forme : sujet + had + participe passé.

Emploi : le past perfect exprime une action accomplie avant une autre action passée (antériorité). L'autre action est au past simple.

- By the time the chief arrived, the wrestlers had performed the dance. (d'abord la danse, ensuite l'arrivée du chef)
- My grandmother had told me stories before I went to the festival.

Mots-repères : before, after, by the time, when, already, just.

EXEMPLE Chronologie : qui fait quoi en premier ?

When the referee arrived, the match had already started.

1. First action : the match started. → past perfect (had started)
2. Second action : the referee arrived. → past simple (arrived)

Astuce : l'action au past perfect est toujours la première dans la chronologie réelle.

MÉTHODE Choisir entre past simple, present perfect et past perfect

1. L'action a-t-elle un lien avec le présent (résultat, expérience, since/for)? → present perfect.
2. L'action est-elle située à un moment passé précis et terminé? → past simple.
3. L'action est-elle antérieure à une autre action passée? → past perfect.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 4 Conjugaison : au bon temps

Énoncé : Mets les verbes entre parenthèses au temps correct (past simple, present perfect ou past perfect).

1. The dancers (rehearse) _____ for two hours before the show (begin)

2. I (never / see) _____ a pirogue race in my life.
3. Last year, our school (organise) _____ a cultural day.

SOLUTION

Solution détaillée :

1. had rehearsed — began. La répétition est antérieure au début du spectacle (repère before) : past perfect pour la première action, past simple pour la seconde.
2. have never seen. Expérience de vie avec never, sans date précise : present perfect.
3. organised. Moment passé précis (last year) : past simple obligatoire.

EXERCICE 6 Grammar : choose the correct tense

Put the verbs in brackets in the correct tense (past simple, present perfect or past perfect).

1. The Ngondo festival (exist) _____ for many decades.
2. When we (arrive) _____ at the arena, the first round (already / finish) _____.
3. (you / ever / play) _____ songo with your grandfather?
4. The crowd (cheer) _____ loudly when the winner lifted the trophy last Sunday.
5. She (just / come back) _____ from the village festival.
6. Before the referee (blow) _____ the whistle, the wrestlers (enter) _____ the arena.

CORRIGÉ Exercice : Grammar

1. has existed (durée jusqu'à maintenant, for + durée : present perfect).
2. arrived — had already finished (la fin de la manche est antérieure à l'arrivée).
3. Have you ever played (expérience de vie : present perfect).
4. cheered (moment passé précis : last Sunday).
5. has just come back (action très récente avec just).
6. blew — had entered (les lutteurs entrent avant le coup de sifflet).

5.5 Expression écrite : un paragraphe-témoignage

MÉTHODE Rédiger un court témoignage sur une activité récréative

1. Présente l'activité et le lieu (Last month, I attended...).
2. Raconte les événements au past simple.
3. Utilise au moins un past perfect pour l'antériorité (By the time we arrived, ... had already started).
4. Termine par un present perfect pour le bilan ou l'effet présent (Since that day, I have felt...).
5. Utilise au moins quatre mots du vocabulaire de la séance.

EXERCICE 7 Writing task

Write a short paragraph (8–10 lines) about a recreational activity you have taken part in (a festival, a match, a dance, a board game competition). Use the past simple, at least one past perfect, one present perfect, and four words from the vocabulary list.

CORRIGÉ Exercice : Writing — exemple de production

Last December, I attended the wrestling festival in my village. When my friends and I arrived at the wrestling arena, the first round had already started. The referee was watching the two wrestlers carefully. The drumbeat of the tam-tams made everybody excited, and the crowd began to cheer. At the end, the strongest wrestler received a beautiful trophy. I have never seen such an exciting event in my life. Since that day, I have decided to train every week, and I have already won two matches in my neighbourhood.

À RETENIR À retenir

- Present perfect = have/has + participe passé : lien avec le présent, expérience (ever/never), durée (since/for), action récente (just/already/yet).
- Past perfect = had + participe passé : action accomplie avant une autre action passée (before, by the time, when).
- Jamais de present perfect avec une date passée précise (yesterday, last year) → past simple.

- Vocabulaire clé : wrestling arena, referee, round, trophy, cheer, drumbeat, choreography, board game, seed, strategy, heritage, spectator.

LET'S / LET'S NOT & ÉCRITURE ARGUMENTÉE6.1 Transition depuis la section 5

In Section 5, we explored recreational activities (activités récréatives) through reading texts and the present perfect / past perfect tenses. We saw how events like traditional wrestling (lutte traditionnelle), njangi meetings, or the Ngondo festival create social bonds. Now, we move from describing these activities to proposing them and arguing for their value. To do this, we need two tools : the structure Let's / Let's not for making inclusive suggestions, and the argumentative essay structure to convince an audience (school authorities, community leaders) that these activities bring peace.

6.2 La structure Let's / Let's not : proposer et décider ensembleDÉFINITION Forme affirmative : Let's + infinitif sans to

Let's est la forme contractée de Let us. Elle exprime une suggestion inclusive (suggestion qui inclut le locuteur) : « Et si nous... ? », « Allons-y... ».

Structure : Let's + verbe (base verbale) + complément.

EXEMPLE Exemples contextuels (Fêtes communautaires)

- Let's organise a cleaning day before the festival. (Organisons une journée de nettoyage...)
- Let's invite the neighbourhood chiefs to the opening ceremony. (Invitons les chefs de quartier...)
- Let's prepare traditional dishes together. (Préparons des plats traditionnels ensemble.)

Traduction française : « Et si nous organisons... », « Organisons... », « Allons-y pour... ».

DÉFINITION Forme négative : Let's not + infinitif sans to Pour exprimer une suggestion de ne pas faire quelque chose, on place not après Let's, sans to.

Structure : Let's not + verbe (base verbale) + complément.

EXEMPLE Exemples contextuels (Règlement de conflits)

- Let's not invite politics into this celebration. (N'invitons pas la politique dans cette fête.)
- Let's not argue about the referee's decision during the match. (Ne contestons pas la décision de l'arbitre...)
- Let's not forget the elders' advice. (N'oublions pas les conseils des aînés.)

DÉFINITION Question-tag : shall we ?

Comme Let's implique une invitation à l'action commune, le tag question (question d'appui) associé est toujours shall we ?.

Let's start the meeting, shall we ? / Let's not be late, shall we ?

PROPRIÉTÉ Différence cruciale : Let's vs Let us

Bien que Let's = Let us (contracté), l'usage et le sens diffèrent radicalement.

Critère	Let's (Suggestion collective)	Let us (Demande d'autorisation)
Sens	« Faisons-le ensemble » (Nous inclus)	« Permettez-nous de le faire » (Nous exclus)
Sujet implicite	We (locuteur + auditeur)	We (locuteur + groupe, s'adressant à un tiers autoritaire)
Exemple	Let's dance! (Dansons!)	Let us go home, Sir. (Laissez-nous rentrer, Monsieur.)
Négation	Let's not dance.	Do not let us down. (Ne nous décevez pas.)

Note d'examen : Au Probatoire/Bac Tech, on teste souvent la transformation Let us → Let's (suggestion) ou le choix du tag shall we ?.

ATTENTION Piège fréquent : *Let's not to go

Erreur : « Let's not to go. »

Correct : Let's not go.

Règle : Après Let's not, le verbe est à la base verbale (infinitif sans to). Jamais de to. Autre erreur fréquente : écrire Lets sans apostrophe — il faut toujours Let's (contraction de Let us).

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 5 Transformation et tags

Énoncé : Transformez les phrases suivantes en suggestions avec Let's (affirmatif ou négatif) et ajoutez le tag approprié.

1. We should organise a football tournament. (Affirmatif)
2. We must not bring alcohol to the village square. (Négatif)
3. Let us ask the principal for permission. (Suggestion collective)

SOLUTION

Solution détaillée :

1. Let's organise a football tournament, shall we? (Base verbale organise, tag shall we?)
2. Let's not bring alcohol to the village square, shall we? (not + base verbale bring)
3. Let's ask the principal for permission, shall we? (Contraction de Let us en Let's car c'est une suggestion nous inclus ; tag shall we?)

EXERCICE 8 Entraînement : Let's / Let's not

Énoncé : Complétez avec Let's ou Let's not + le verbe entre parenthèses (forme correcte). Ajoutez le tag.

1. _____ (clean) the community hall before the guests arrive,
_____?
2. _____ (make) too much noise during the traditional dance,
_____?
3. _____ (invite) the neighbouring village to our cultural week,
_____?
4. _____ (forget) to thank the sponsors in the closing speech,
_____?

CORRIGÉ Exercice n°1

1. Let's clean the community hall before the guests arrive, shall we?
2. Let's not make too much noise during the traditional dance, shall we?
3. Let's invite the neighbouring village to our cultural week, shall we?

MÉTHODE Rédiger l'introduction (4 étapes obligatoires)

Pour réussir l'introduction au Bac Tech, suivez ce protocole :

1. Accroche (Hook) : Un proverbe, une statistique, une citation ou une observation générale. Ex : "In Cameroon, a popular saying goes : 'One hand washes the other'."
2. Définition du sujet : Définir recreational activities (sport, danse, jeux, travaux communautaires) et community disputes (conflits fonciers, générationnels, politiques).

Consigne : Utilisez au moins 5 connecteurs différents dans votre développement pour viser la note maximale en organisation.

EXEMPLE Modèle de développement (Argument 1 & 2) — Extrait

First, recreational activities provide a neutral meeting ground (espace neutre de rencontre). For instance, in Garoua, traditional wrestling (la lutte) brings together young men from rival quarters. On the wrestling arena, social status and family grudges disappear; only technique and fair play matter. In fact, the referee (often an elder) is respected by all. Furthermore, the njangi (tontine/association rotative) in Bafoussam acts as a conflict prevention mechanism. Members meet weekly, share a meal, and discuss community issues before they escalate. Consequently, disputes over land or money are often settled amicably during these gatherings rather than in courts.

LESAVAIS-TU ? Sagesse locale : One hand washes the other

Le proverbe ouest-camerounais « One hand washes the other » (litt. « Une main lave l'autre ») illustre parfaitement l'entraide récréative. Il signifie : « On a besoin les uns des autres pour réussir ». Il est souvent cité dans les discours d'ouverture des tournois inter-quartiers (football, lutte, danse) pour rappeler que la compétition sportive est une métaphore de la solidarité communautaire. Intégrer ce proverbe en accroche ou en ouverture de conclusion valorise votre copie (ancrage local apprécié au Bac Tech).

EXEMPLE Exemples camerounais à mobiliser dans vos copies

Exemple	Argument qu'il illustre
Lutte traditionnelle (Nord)	Espace de confrontation ritualisée, respect de l'adversaire, rôle de l'arbitre-aîné.
Njangi / Tontines (Ouest)	Réunions régulières, médiation par les aînés, entraide financière.
Festival Ngondo (Sawa, Douala)	Cohésion d'une communauté autour de rites partagés (course de pirogues, danses).
Danses traditionnelles	Cohésion intergénérationnelle, transmission des valeurs, fête partagée.
Jeux modernes (Football, Ludo)	Mixité sociale, règles universelles, esprit d'équipe.

Conseil : Variez les exemples (ne citez pas uniquement la lutte) et reliez chaque exemple à un connecteur : les copies qui diversifient les illustrations obtiennent les meilleures notes en contenu et originalité.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 6 Rédaction complète : Introduction + Plan détaillé

Sujet : « Recreational activities can settle community disputes and bring peace. » Discuss. (250–300 words)

Introduction (Modèle) :

« One hand washes the other », says a Cameroonian proverb. In Cameroon, community life is often shaken by disputes over land, inheritance or political differences. Recreational activities — such as traditional wrestling, njangi meetings, cultural festivals or football tournaments — are organised leisure events where people meet freely. I strongly believe that these activities are effective instruments to settle conflicts and restore lasting peace. First, they create a neutral space for dialogue. Second, they impose shared rules that teach mutual respect. Finally, they strengthen a common identity beyond differences.

Plan du développement (Squelette pour l'élève) :

- §2 (Arg 1 – Neutral ground) : Lutte à Garoua / Tournois inter-quartiers. Connecteurs : First, For instance, In fact.
- §3 (Arg 2 – Shared rules) : Njangi à Bafoussam / Règles du jeu = lois sociales. Connecteurs : Furthermore, Moreover, Consequently.
- §4 (Arg 3 – Common identity) : Festival Ngondo (Sawa) / Danses / Chants. Connecteurs : Additionally, Ultimately.
- §5 (Contre-argument / Nuance – Optionnel pour excellents) : However, bad organisation can spark violence. Nevertheless, with good leadership...

CORRIGÉ Exercice n°2 — Proposition de corrigé type (environ 280 mots)

An Intercultural Festival : A Bridge to Peace in Our School

« One hand washes the other », says a Cameroonian proverb. In our technical high school, tensions sometimes rise between students from different regions or specialities. An intercultural festival is a school event where students showcase their cultures through dance, food, wrestling and fashion. I firmly believe that such a festival strengthens unity and prevents violence. First, it creates a neutral meeting ground. For instance, during the traditional wrestling demonstrations, students from the North and the West compete respectfully under the same rules. In fact, they have shared the same arena for years without incident. Furthermore, the festival teaches shared rules. For example, the njangi-style cooking competition requires teams to follow strict hygiene and timing rules. Consequently, students learn that discipline benefits the whole group. Moreover, it builds a common identity. Last year, the Ngondo-inspired canoe race had brought together Francophones and Anglophones before the closing ceremony even started. Ultimately, we realise we are one student body.

However, some fear that cultural pride might turn into rivalry. Nevertheless, with teacher supervision, this risk is low. In conclusion, the festival transforms differences into richness. Let's organise it annually, shall we? Let's not allow prejudice to divide us. Together, we build a peaceful campus.

À RETENIR Résumé des points clés pour le Bac Tech — Unité 1

- Let's + BV = Suggestion inclusive (Let's go!) | Tag = shall we?
- Let's not + BV = Suggestion négative (Let's not fight!) | Pas de to.
- Let us (non contracté) = Demande d'autorisation à un supérieur (Let us leave, Sir.).
- Essai argumenté : Intro (Hook, Définition, Thèse, Plan) → 3 § Développement (Arguments + Exemples camerounais + Connecteurs) → Conclusion (Bilan + Ouverture + Let's).
- Connecteurs stars : Furthermore, For instance, Consequently, However, Ultimately.
- Grammaire intégrée : Present Perfect (expérience/résultat), Past Perfect (antériorité), Let's/Let's not.

7 INTÉGRATION : ORGANISATION D'UN FESTIVAL INTER-CULTUREL SCOLAIRE

7.1 Transition depuis la section 6

After practising Let's / Let's not for suggestions and writing argumentative paragraphs about how recreational activities foster peace, you are now ready to mobilise all the language tools of this unit — vocabulary on festivals and community life, modals for permission/obligation/deduction, purpose/result connectors, present perfect and past perfect — in a single, realistic project : the Intercultural School Festival. This integration task mirrors the way technical professionals combine diverse competences to deliver a concrete outcome.

7.2 Présentation de la tâche complexe

DÉFINITION Tâche d'intégration — Festival Interculturel du Lycée

En groupes de 6 élèves, vous organisez un festival de 3 jours célébrant la diversité culturelle de l'établissement. La tâche exige la production de quatre livrables évalués :

1. Une lettre formelle au Proviseur (demande d'autorisation + budget prévisionnel).
2. Une affiche bilingue (français / anglais) avec date, lieu, activités, modalités d'inscription.
3. Un scénario de médiation d'un conflit fictif (ex. : bruit des répétitions vs besoin de repos des internes).
4. Un discours d'ouverture (2 min) intégrant present perfect, modaux (must, should, ought to), Let's, connecteurs de but/résultat.

7.3 Répartition des rôles au sein du groupe

Rôle	Responsabilités principales
Coordonnateur	Pilotage global, respect du calendrier, liaison avec l'enseignant
Secrétaire	Rédaction de la lettre au Proviseur, compte-rendus de réunions
Trésorier	Budget prévisionnel (tableur), recherche de sponsoring, suivi dépenses
Communicant	Conception affiche, publications réseaux sociaux, annonces micro
Médiateur	Écriture du scénario de conflit + résolution, animation atelier médiation
Orateur	Rédaction et répétition du discours d'ouverture

MÉTHODE Travail de groupe efficace : 5 étapes clés

1. Définir l'objectif commun : « Festival réussi, inclusif, sans incident, budget équilibré. »
2. Répartir selon les forces : à l'aise à l'oral → Orateur/Médiateur ; rigoureux chiffres → Trésorier ; créatif visuel → Communicant.
3. Fixer des échéances intermédiaires (jalons) : J+2 choix communautés, J+5 budget v1, J+8 lettre signée, J+10 affiche imprimée, J+12 scénario validé, J+13 discours prêt, J+14 répétition générale.
4. Points de synchronisation quotidiens (5 min) : tour de table « Qu'ai-je fait ? Qu'est-ce qui bloque ? Besoin d'aide ? ».
5. Rédiger collectivement sur espace partagé (Google Docs, Framapad, ou dossier partagé sur clé USB / disque local) : historique des versions, commentaires, traçabilité.

7.4 Planification globale : diagramme de Gantt simplifié (14 séances)

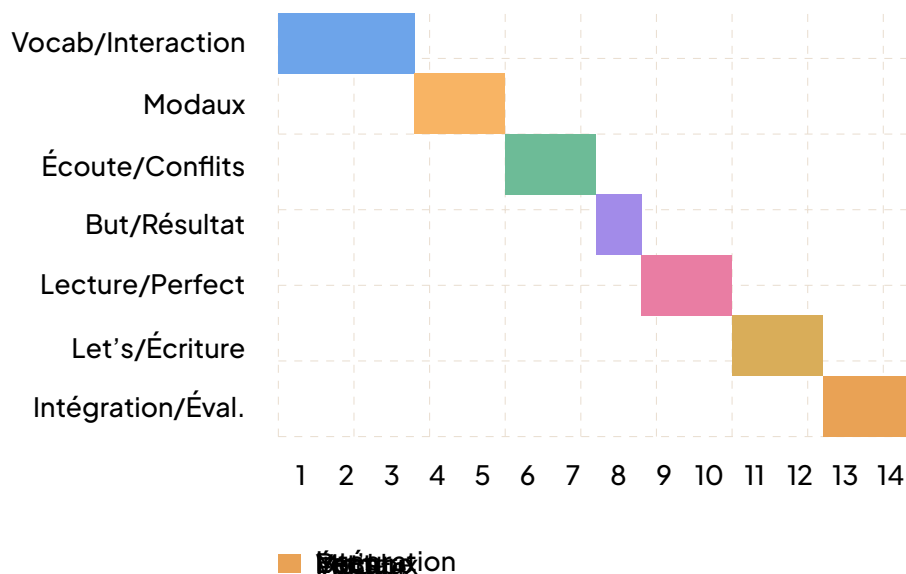

Diagramme de Gantt simplifié : répartition des 14 séances par bloc thématique. Les barres horizontales indiquent les séances consacrées à chaque module ; la phase d'intégration (S13-14) mobilise l'ensemble des acquis.

7.5 Produit 1 — Lettre formelle au Proviseur

DÉFINITION Structure d'une lettre formelle administrative (camérounais)

Une lettre au chef d'établissement suit un canevas codifié :

1. En-tête expéditeur : Nom du lycée, BP, Ville, Téléphone, Email.
2. Date (ex. : Yaoundé, le 15 octobre 2026).
3. Destinataire : Monsieur le Proviseur, Lycée Technique de [Ville].
4. Objet : clair, concis (ex. : Demande d'autorisation pour l'organisation du Festival Interculturel du Lycée).
5. Formule d'appel : Monsieur le Proviseur,
6. Corps : (a) Contexte (classe, unité pédagogique), (b) Description du projet (3 jours, 3 communautés, activités), (c) Budget prévisionnel synthétique, (d) Engagements (sécurité, propreté, encadrement).
7. Formule de politesse : Je vous prie d'agréer, Monsieur le Proviseur, l'expression de ma considération distinguée.
8. Signature : Nom, Prénom, Classe, Fonction dans le groupe (ex. : Secrétaire du comité d'organisation).

ATTENTION Piège de registre — Ne pas mélanger familier et formel

Erreur fréquente : « Hey Principal, can we do a festival ? It'll be cool ! »

Correction : Maintenez le registre formel tout au long. Utilisez may pour la permission (We kindly request that we may organise...), would like to pour la courtoisie, undertake to pour l'engagement. Pas de contractions (we're, it's) ; préférez we are, it is.

Modèle de lettre formelle au Proviseur : en-tête institutionnel, date, destinataire, objet, formule d'appel, corps structuré (contexte, description, budget, engagements), formule de politesse, signature avec qualité.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 7Rédaction de la lettre — Mise en application

Consigne : À partir du modèle ci-dessus, rédigez la lettre pour votre propre établissement en adaptant les communautés représentées, les dates et le budget. Vérifiez : (1) absence de contractions, (2) modaux de permission (may, could), (3) connecteurs de but (in order to, so that), (4) present perfect pour les actions déjà menées (We have contacted three local sponsors...).

Extrait corrigé (corps de lettre) :

We have selected three cultural communities represented in our school : the Bamileké, the Bassa and the Fulani. Each community will present traditional dances, dishes and tales. We would like to use the school courtyard and the multipurpose hall. We have already contacted two local sponsors who have agreed to support us. We undertake to ensure strict supervision and cleanliness. We kindly request that you may grant us authorisation.

Analyse grammaticale : have selected / have contacted / have agreed = present perfect (actions passées récentes, lien avec le présent) ; will present = futur simple (programme) ; would like to = courtoisie ; may grant = permission formelle ; undertake to = engagement

ties are here, side by side.

This festival aims at strengthening our unity. So that no voice goes unheard, let's listen to every drum, every tale, every flavour. We must remember that culture is not a barrier but a bridge. We should be proud of our roots and curious about others'. We ought to turn difference into dialogue.

Let's dance, taste, play, talk. Let's not allow prejudice to spoil this moment. Let's make these three days a memory of peace.

On behalf of the organising committee, I declare the Intercultural Festival officially open. Thank you.

7.11 Remédiation ciblée (ateliers 20 min)

À RETENIR

Ateliers « clinique » selon besoins détectés

- Atelier Modaux : tri de phrases (permission / possibilité / obligation / déduction) → reformulation contextuelle.
- Atelier Temps parfaits : ligne du temps visuelle (past simple vs present perfect vs past perfect) → exercice de transformation.
- Atelier Connecteurs but/résultat : to / in order to / so that / so as to / for → complétion de phrases à trous, puis production libre.
- Atelier Registre formel : paires familier/formel → réécriture de SMS en lettre administrative.

7.12 Présentation finale — Simulation du festival en classe

EXPÉRIENCE Simulation « Jour J » — Organisation pratique

Matériel : Tables pour stands (gastronomie, artisanat), sono portable, projecteur pour affiche, chaises pour public, grille d'évaluation imprimée (jurés). Protocole :

1. Installation stands (15 min) : chaque communauté décore son espace.
2. Accueil du jury (Proviseur adjoint, 2 délégués élèves, 1 parent d'élève, 1 enseignant partenaire).
3. Discours d'ouverture par l'Orateur (2 min) — évalué sur grille.
4. Rotation du public : dégustation, quiz culture, mini-match handball (cour de récréation).
5. Scène ouverte : danses, contes (15 min par communauté).
6. Scénario de médiation joué par le Médiateur + 2 volontaires (5 min).
7. Clôture : remise attestations « Ambassadeur Interculturel », photo de groupe.

Observations attendues : Qualité de l'anglais oral (prononciation, grammaire en situation), cohérence des écrits affichés, esprit d'équipe, respect des horaires. Interprétation : Le jury complète la grille ; l'enseignant donne un feedback oral immédiat (points forts / axes de progression) et une note finale sur 20 (moyenne des 4 critères $\times 5 / 5 =$ note / 20).

7.13 Synthèse de l'unité — Transfert et intégrationPROPRIÉTÉ L'intégration comme transfert L'intégration n'est pas une simple addition de savoirs (vocabulaire + grammaire + fonctions), mais leur mobilisation coordonnée pour résoudre un problème complexe nouveau : organiser un événement réel, avec contraintes budgétaires, administratives, relationnelles. C'est la preuve que l'élève est capable de transférer ses acquis hors du cadre scolaire strict.

LE SAVAIS-TU ? Le MINESEC et les Semaines Culturelles

Le Ministère des Enseignements Secondaires (MINESEC) institutionnalise les Semaines Culturelles annuelles dans tous les lycées. Les meilleures prestations (danse, théâtre, chant, art oratoire) sont sélectionnées pour les Jeux Universitaires et Scolaires (JUSCO) au niveau régional puis national. Participer activement au festival de classe, c'est donc s'inscrire dans une dynamique nationale de valorisation du patrimoine culturel camerounais.

7.14 Exercices d'intégration (auto-évaluation)

EXERCICE 10 Auto-évaluation — Préparation au Probatoire

1. Reformulation : Transformez en style formel : « Hey boss, can we use the hall? We wanna do a party. » → ...
2. Modaux : Complétez : « Students _____ respect the schedule. » (obligation forte); « We _____ invite parents. » (suggestion); « The noise _____ disturb the neighbours. » (déduction forte).
3. Present perfect / Past perfect : Mettez le verbe entre parenthèses au temps qui convient : « By the time the Principal arrived, we _____ (already / set up) the stands. »; « We _____ (contact) three sponsors so far. »
4. Let's / Let's not : Proposez deux suggestions pour améliorer la communication du festival.
5. Connecteurs : Reliez les deux phrases avec so that / in order to : « We printed bilingual posters. Everyone understands the programme. »

CORRIGÉ Exercice d'intégration

1. Monsieur le Proviseur, nous sollicitons respectueusement l'autorisation d'utiliser la salle polyvalente pour l'organisation d'un festival interculturel.
2. must / ought to / should (obligation); should / ought to (conseil); must (déduction).
3. had already set up (past perfect — antériorité par rapport à arrived); have contacted (present perfect — lien avec le présent).
4. Let's create a WhatsApp group for updates. / Let's not forget to post on the school Facebook page.
5. We printed bilingual posters so that / in order that everyone understands the programme. / We printed bilingual posters in order to / so as to make the programme understandable to everyone.

À RETENIR Bilan de l'unité « Family and Social Life »

Vous savez maintenant : (1) interagir poliment avec pairs, adultes, autorités lors d'événements communautaires; (2) utiliser les modaux pour demander la permission, exprimer la possibilité, l'obligation, la déduction; (3) comprendre des textes sur le travail communautaire et la médiation; (4) exprimer but, résultat, préférence; (5) lire/écrire sur les acti-vités récréatives avec present perfect / past perfect ; (6) formuler des suggestions avec Let's ; (7) mobiliser tout cela dans un projet réel. Ces compétences sont transférables à tout contexte technique : gestion de projet, communication professionnelle, résolution de conflits.

8 ACTIVITÉ D'INTÉGRATION

9 FAMILY AND SOCIAL LIFE – INTÉGRATION : FESTIVAL INTERCULTUREL

9.1 Objectifs de l'activité

- Mobiliser l'ensemble des savoirs de l'unité : vocabulaire des fêtes communautaires, modaux (can/may, could, ought to, must, needn't, don't have to), temps parfaits (present perfect, past perfect), structures de but/résultat/préférence, Let's/Let's not.
- Mobiliser les savoir-faire : interaction orale (demander permission, négocier, médiatiser), compréhension orale/écrite, production écrite formelle (lettre, discours, affiche), argumentation.
- Travailler en équipe dans une situation authentique : organisation d'un festival interculturel scolaire au Cameroun.
- Développer l'autonomie, le sens des responsabilités et l'esprit citoyen (vivre-ensemble, résolution pacifique des conflits).

9.2 Situation

Contexte : Le Lycée Technique de Dschang (Région de l'Ouest) accueille, les 15 et 16 mars 2026, la 2^e édition du Festival Interculturel des Lycées Techniques de l'Ouest. Trois délégations d'écoles partenaires sont attendues :

- Lycée Technique de Bafoussam : 42 élèves + 3 encadreurs.
- Lycée Technique de Foumban : 38 élèves + 3 encadreurs.
- Lycée Technique de Mbouda : 35 élèves + 2 encadreurs.

Le lycée hôte mobilise 50 élèves volontaires (commissions : logistique, communication, protocole, médiation, restauration) et 5 enseignants référents.

Contraintes réelles :

- Budget prévisionnel alloué par la Région : 750 000 FCFA (postes : repas, transport interne, matériel sono, décorations, prix, imprévus 10%).
- Règlement intérieur (extrait) : « Toute manifestation collective nécessite une autorisation écrite du Proviseur 15 jours avant la date. L'utilisation du terrain de sport est interdite après 22 h. Le bruit excessif est prohibé dans les dortoirs après 21 h 30. »
- Infrastructures : 1 terrain de sport (foot/hand), 1 salle polyvalente (capacité 200), 2 dortoirs visiteurs (capacité 60 lits chacun), 1 réfectoire, 1 scène extérieure.
- Lexique Ghomala' de base fourni : Ndewo (Bonjour), Merci = Ayafwa, Paix = Mbong, Ensemble = Ngwa, Fête = Tsï, Bienvenue = Zoa.

Incident déclencheur (Jour 1, 20 h 30) : La délégation de Bafoussam organise une répétition de danse traditionnelle avec tam-tams sur le terrain de sport. La délégation de Mbouda, logée dans le dortoir adjacent, proteste : le bruit empêche les élèves de se reposer avant les épreuves sportives du lendemain (8 h). Les esprits s'échauffent ; des propos blessants sont échangés (« Vous manquez de respect », « Vous êtes égoïstes »).

9.3 Consignes

Les élèves sont répartis en 5 commissions (6 à 8 élèves chacune). Chaque commission rend un livrable écrit et/ou oral. Les consignes sont progressives et imbriquées.

1. Commission « Administration & Budget » (Lettre officielle + Budget)

1.1 Rédigez la lettre formelle adressée au Proviseur (format administratif : en-tête, objet, formules de politesse). Demandez l'autorisation du festival et le déblocage du budget. Utilisez : may/can (permission formelle), present perfect (bilan de la 1^{re} édition : We have successfully organized...), ought to/should (recommandations).

1.2 Complétez le budget prévisionnel (tableau vierge fourni) en répartissant les 750 000 FCFA. Justifiez chaque poste en 1 phrase (ex. : We need 200 000 FCFA for meals so that all participants eat properly).

2. Commission « Communication & Affiche » (Affiche trilingue + Programme)

CORRIGÉExercice 3 – Commission Médiation & Règlement

Scénario de médiation (12 répliques)

Personnage	Réplique (avec cibles grammaticales)
Médiateur 1 (Élève)	"Good evening. We must respect the school rules : no noise after 21h30. Could each side explain their need calmly?"
Représentant Bafoussam	"We have to rehearse for tomorrow's competition. The hall is occupied. Can we use the field just until 21h?"
Médiateur 2 (Élève)	"You ought to understand that Mbouda students need to rest. They have sports events at 8h. What about moving to the hall at 20h?"
Représentant Mbouda	"We can't sleep with the drums. You should have asked us before. We didn't agree to this noise."
Enseignant observateur	"The rule must be applied. However, we could split the time : field until 20h30, then hall. Does that work for both?"
Médiateur 1	"Let's propose a schedule : Bafoussam on field 19h-20h30, then hall 20h30-21h30. Mbouda rests from 21h. Do you agree?"
Représentant Bafoussam	"We can accept that. We ought not to disturb others. Sorry for the words earlier."
Représentant Mbouda	"We accept too. We needn't argue. Let's focus on the festival."
Médiateur 2	"The elders have decided that the field closes at 20h30 sharp. We will monitor. Thank you for your maturity."

Techniques de médiation identifiées :

1. Reformulation (Médiateur 1 résume les besoins : répétition vs repos).
2. Recherche d'intérêts communs (réussite du festival, respect du règlement, santé des élèves).
3. Proposition d'alternative concrète (partage horaire terrain/salle + horaire précis).

Exercice 4 – Commission Protocole & Discours

Discours d'ouverture (version complète, 260 mots)

DISCOURS D'OUVERTURE – FESTIVAL INTERCULTUREL 2026

Prononcé par le Président du Comité d'Organisation, Lycée Technique de Dschang, 15 mars 2026, 09h30.

Distinguished Proviseur, Dear Teachers, Dear Delegates from Bafoussam, Foumban and Mbouda, Dear Friends,

Let's celebrate our diversity! Today, our school opens its doors to welcome 115 young talents from three brother schools. We have prepared this festival so that unity grows beyond our differences. Since January, the committee has worked tirelessly : we have designed posters, have written letters, have planned meals and schedules. The elders had decided last year that this festival must become a tradition, and we are honoured to continue it.

We must remember that culture is not a competition but a bridge. You should see this festival as a space to share, to listen, to learn. You can dance, sing, play, debate – but you ought to do it with respect. The elders have decided that the sports field closes at 20h30 to protect everyone's rest ; we needn't see this as a limit, but as a care for each other.

Let's not allow misunderstandings to spoil our joy. Let's build memories that will last. We would rather create friendship than rivalry. Let's make these two days a model of Mbong ngwa – peace together.

Thank you. / Ayafwa. / Zoa.

Commentaires grammaticaux : Let's celebrate (proposition inclusive) ; have prepared / have worked / have designed / have written / have planned (present perfect = actions passées récentes, résultat visible) ; had decided (past perfect = antériorité par rapport à « last year ») ; must / should / can / ought to / needn't (modaux variés) ; so that (but) ; would rather (préférence).

Auto-évaluation élève (modèle rempli) :

- Forces : (1) J'ai bien utilisé present perfect dans la lettre. (2) J'ai proposé une solution créative en médiation (partage horaire). (3) Mon discours avait un ton engageant.
- Axes de progrès : (1) Encore hésitant sur needn't vs don't have to. (2) Prononciation de ought to / ɔːt tu ɔːt /.
- Action concrète : Réviser les modaux avec l'appli OnBuch+ (exercices ciblés) et m'enregistrer pour la prononciation.

9.6 Bilan de l'activité

Cette activité d'intégration a permis de mettre en évidence :

1. La transférabilité des savoirs : Les élèves ont réinvesti le vocabulaire (celebration, dispute, mediation, rehearsal, curfew, diversity, unity), les modaux (permission formelle may, conseil ought to, obligation must, absence de nécessité needn't), les temps parfaits (bilan present perfect, antériorité past perfect), les structures de but (so that, in order to) et Let's dans une seule tâche complexe, et non plus en exercices isolés.
2. L'ancrage camerounais réaliste : Le contexte (Dschang, Bafoussam, Foumban, Mbouda, budget en FCFA, règlement intérieur, langue ghomala') a suscité l'engagement : les élèves se reconnaissent dans la situation.
3. L'articulation oral/écrit : L'affiche (écrit visuel) soutient la présentation orale ; le scénario de médiation (écrit dialogué) prépare le jeu de rôle ; le discours (écrit formel) devient performance orale.
4. La dimension citoyenne : La médiation par les elders élèves modélise la résolution pacifique des conflits (compétence transversale MINESEC : « vivre-ensemble », « prévention de la violence »). L'auto-évaluation développe la métacognition.
5. Les points de vigilance pour la remédiation : Confusion persistante needn't / don't have to ; difficulté à placer past perfect spontanément ; prononciation des modaux (ought to, mustn't) ; gestion du temps dans le travail collaboratif (certaines commissions ont rendu incomplet).

Pistes de prolongement (remédiation / approfondissement) :

- Atelier ciblé « Modaux : needn't vs don't have to » (exercices de transformation + mini-dialogues).
- Entraînement past perfect : réécrire le journal de bord du festival (By 6 p.m., we had set up the stage...).
- Enregistrement audio des discours + grille d'auto-correction phonologique (accentuation, intonation Let's).
- Écriture d'un article pour le journal du lycée (genre journalistique, passé composé / present perfect).

À RETENIR

Synthèse de l'unité – Family and Social Life

- Vocabulaire clé : community, festival, celebration, neighbour, authority, dispute, mediation, rehearsal, curfew, diversity, unity, reconciliation, recreational activity.
- Grammaire essentielle :
 - Modaux : can/may (permission), could (possibilité/politesse), must (obligation/déduction), should/ought to (conseil), needn't (pas nécessaire), don't have to (pas d'obligation).
 - Temps : Present Perfect (have/has + V3) vs Past Perfect (had + V3).
 - Structures : so that / in order to (but), so / such... that (résultat), would rather / prefer (préférence).
 - Let's / Let's not + BV (proposition/suggestion).
- Compétences visées : Interagir en société, résoudre un conflit, organiser un événement, s'exprimer formellement (écrit/oral), s'auto-évaluer.

Bilan final : L'activité a atteint son objectif d'intégration. Les productions montrent une progression nette par rapport aux séances d'apprentissage isolées. L'évaluation par grille + auto-évaluation donne des données fiables pour le conseil de classe et le livret de compétences.

10 MÉTHODES ET EXERCICES RÉSOLUS

11 FAMILY AND SOCIAL LIFE

11.1 Fiche méthode 1 : Choisir le bon modal (permission, possibilité, obligation, déduction)

MÉTHODE How to choose the correct modal

To choose the right modal in an exam sentence, follow these steps :

1. Identify the meaning the sentence expresses : permission (autorisation) – can/may, possibility (possibilité) – can/could, obligation (obligation) – must, should, ought to, absence of obligation (absence d'obligation) – needn't, don't have to, or deduction (déduction) – must.
2. Check the register (niveau de langue) : may is more formal than can (use may with school authorities, adults ; can with mates).
3. Distinguish mustn't (interdiction – it is forbidden) from needn't / don't have to (pas d'obligation – it is not necessary).
4. For deduction, use must + bare infinitive (infinitif sans to) when you are almost sure something is true : She speaks Ewondo fluently – she must be from Yaoundé.
5. Check the form : modal + bare infinitive (infinitif sans to), except ought to and have to.

À RETENIR Key forms / Formes clés can/may + BV (permission) ; can/could + BV (possibility) ; should/ought to + BV (advice/conseil) ; needn't / don't have to + BV (no obligation) ; must + BV (obligation or deduction).

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 9 Choosing the right modal – Probatoire type

Complete each sentence with the correct modal : can, may, must, mustn't, needn't, should, ought to.

1. You ... wear a uniform to attend the school cultural festival. It is the rule.
2. ... I use your drum for the traditional dance, Mr Ndi? (polite, to an adult)

3. You ... bring food ; the committee will provide everything. (not necessary)
4. The hall is full of people dancing. It ... be the Ngondo festival!
5. We ... respect our elders during community celebrations. (moral duty)
6. You ... smoke inside the school hall. It is strictly forbidden.

SOLUTION

Step 1 – Meaning of each sentence.

1. "It is the rule" ⇒ obligation : must. You must wear a uniform...
2. Polite request to an adult (Mr Ndi) ⇒ formal permission : may. May I use your drum... ?
3. "Not necessary" ⇒ absence of obligation : needn't. You needn't bring food...
4. Conclusion from evidence (hall full of dancers) ⇒ deduction : must. It must be the Ngondo festival!
5. Moral duty, advice ⇒ should or ought to. We should respect our elders... / We ought to respect...
6. "Strictly forbidden" ⇒ interdiction : mustn't. You mustn't smoke inside...

Step 2 – Form check. Every modal is followed by a bare infinitive (wear, use, bring, be, respect, smoke); ought to keeps its to. Conclusion : 1. must – 2. May – 3. needn't – 4. must – 5. should/ought to – 6. mustn't.

11.2 Fiche méthode 2 : Exprimer le but, le résultat, la préférence et l'obligation

MÉTHODE Expressing purpose, result, preference and obligation

1. Purpose (but) : to + bare infinitive, in order to + bare infinitive, so as to + bare infinitive, or so that + subject + can/could. Example : We organised a meeting to settle the dispute.
2. Result (résultat) : so + adjective + that, such (a) + noun + that, therefore, as a result. Example : The music was so loud that everybody danced.
3. Preference (préférence) : prefer + noun/-ing + to, would rather + bare infinitive + than, would prefer to + bare infinitive. Example : I would rather play football than watch TV.
4. Obligation : must (internal obligation, strong rule), have to (external obligation), should/ought to (advice/conseil).
5. Transform the sentence without changing the meaning : identify the link word, then apply the equivalent structure with the same tense.

À RETENIR Key structures

Purpose : to/in order to/so as to + BV ; so that + can/could. Result : so/such...that.

Preference : would rather + BV + than ; prefer + -ing/noun + to.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 10 Rewriting : purpose and result

Rewrite each sentence without changing its meaning, using the word in brackets.

1. The youths cleaned the market square because they wanted to prepare the festival. (in order to)
2. The dispute was very serious, so the chief called a palaver. (such...that)
3. I prefer dancing to singing. (would rather)

SOLUTION

1. Purpose. "Because they wanted to" expresses a purpose. Replace it by in order to + bare infinitive :

The youths cleaned the market square in order to prepare the festival.

2. Result. "Very serious ⇒ consequence" becomes such + adjective + noun + that. The noun is dispute (countable, singular) ⇒ such a serious dispute that :

It was such a serious dispute that the chief called a palaver.

3. Preference. prefer X to Y = would rather + bare infinitive X + than + bare infinitive Y. After would rather, use the bare infinitive :

I would rather dance than sing.

Conclusion : the three sentences keep their meaning ; only the linking structure changes, and the verb forms (bare infinitive after in order to and would rather) are respected.

11.3 Fiche méthode 3 : Present perfect et past perfectMÉTHODE Using the present perfect and the past perfect

1. Present perfect = have/has + past participle. Use it for : an action with a present result (I have lost my ticket), an experience (Have you ever attended the Ngondo ?), an action that started in the past and continues (for/since).
2. Past perfect = had + past participle. Use it for the first of two past actions : When we arrived, the match had started.

3. Time markers (repères temporels) : present perfect → just, already, yet, ever, never, for, since ; past perfect → before, after, when, by the time.
4. Never use the present perfect with a finished past time (yesterday, last week, in 2019) → use the simple past.
5. Memorise irregular past participles : go→gone, take→taken, see→seen, write→written, begin→begun.

À RETENIR Time markers

Present perfect : just, already, yet, ever, never, for, since. Past perfect : before, after, when, by the time. Simple past : yesterday, last week, ago, in 2019.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 11 Present perfect vs past perfect

Put the verbs in brackets into the present perfect, past perfect or simple past.

1. Our school (organise) ... three cultural festivals since 2022.
2. When the guests arrived, the dancers (already / begin) ... the performance.
3. I (never / see) ... a juju dance before last year's festival.
4. The community (just / finish) ... the communal work. Look at the clean square!

SOLUTION

1. Marker since 2022 ⇒ action continuing up to now ⇒ present perfect : Our school has organised three cultural festivals since 2022.
 2. Two past actions : the dancers began before the guests arrived ⇒ earlier action in the past perfect : When the guests arrived, the dancers had already begun the performance.
 3. Never...before last year's festival : experience completed before a finished past moment (last year) ⇒ past perfect : I had never seen a juju dance before last year's festival.
 4. Marker just + visible present result (the square is clean now) ⇒ present perfect : The community has just finished the communal work.
- Conclusion : 1. has organised – 2. had already begun – 3. had never seen – 4. has just finished.

11.4 Fiche méthode 4 : Let's / Let's not pour proposer une activité

MÉTHODE Making suggestions with Let's / Let's not

1. Structure : Let's + bare infinitive (positive suggestion) ; Let's not + bare infinitive (negative suggestion).
2. Meaning : Let's = "et si nous..." – it includes the speaker and the listener(s).
3. Never write let's to go or let's going : only the bare infinitive.
4. Answers : accept with OK, let's! / That's a good idea! ; refuse politely with I'd rather not / Let's not...
5. In a dialogue about recreational activities, combine Let's with preference structures : Let's play football. – I'd rather play handball.

À RETENIR Forme

Let's + BV (base verbale) ; Let's not + BV. Pas de to, pas de -ing.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 12 Dialogue completion – Let's / Let's not Complete the dialogue between two classmates with Let's, Let's not or I'd rather.

Akono : The exams are over. (1) ... do something relaxing this weekend!

Bella : Good idea! (2) ... go to the stadium to watch the football match.

Akono : Hmm, (3) ... go to the stadium ; it will be too crowded. (4) ... organise a dance competition in the school hall instead.

Bella : OK, (5) ... ! And we can invite the whole class.

SOLUTION

(1) Akono makes a general suggestion ⇒ Let's do something relaxing this weekend!

(2) Bella proposes an activity ⇒ Let's go to the stadium...

(3) Akono rejects the stadium ("too crowded") ⇒ negative suggestion : Let's not go to the stadium...

(4) New proposal ⇒ Let's organise a dance competition...

(5) Bella accepts enthusiastically ⇒ OK, let's!

Form check : every Let's / Let's not is followed by a bare infinitive (do, go, organise).

Conclusion : 1. Let's – 2. Let's – 3. Let's not – 4. Let's – 5. let's.

11.5 Fiche méthode 5 : Comprendre un texte de lecture (reading)

MÉTHODE Reading a text about recreational activities

1. Read the title and the questions first : they tell you what to look for.
2. Skim the text (lecture rapide) to get the general idea : who ? where ? what activity ?
3. Scan for details : locate the key words of each question in the text (names, dates, places, numbers).
4. Answer in full sentences, using the tense of the question ; copy only the useful information, never the whole paragraph.
5. True/False questions : quote or underline the line that justifies your answer ; “Not stated” if the text says nothing.
6. Vocabulary in context : guess the meaning of an unknown word from the words around it (contexte).

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 13 Reading comprehension

Read the text and answer the questions in full sentences.

“Every Saturday morning, the youths of Bafoussam meet at the community field. They play football and handball, and the elders organise traditional wrestling. Last month, two quarters were in conflict over a piece of land. Instead of fighting, their football teams played a peace match. After the match, which ended 2-2, the two quarter heads shook hands and settled the dispute. Since then, the peace tournament has taken place every year.”

Questions : (a) When do the youths meet ? (b) Which activities do they practise ? (c) How was the dispute settled ? (d) How often does the peace tournament take place now ?

SOLUTION

(a) Scan for a time expression : “Every Saturday morning”. ⇒ The youths meet every Saturday morning.

(b) Scan for activities : football, handball, traditional wrestling. ⇒ They play football and handball, and the elders organise traditional wrestling.

(c) Scan for “dispute” : the teams played a peace match, then the quarter heads shook hands. ⇒ The dispute was settled after a peace match which ended 2-2 : the two quarter heads shook hands and made peace.

(d) Scan for frequency : “every year”. ⇒ The peace tournament now takes place every year.

Conclusion : each answer is a full sentence, in the correct tense (simple present for habits, simple past for the past event), and directly supported by the text.

11.6 Fiche méthode 6 : Rédiger une composition argumentée (writing)

MÉTHODEWriting a composition : recreational activities and peace

1. Analyse the topic and make a quick plan : introduction – 2 or 3 arguments with examples – conclusion.
2. Introduction : present the situation (recreational activities in the community) and your thesis (they bring peace).
3. Body : one paragraph = one argument + one example (a peace match, communal work, a festival). Use link words : first, moreover, for instance, as a result, finally.
4. Use the unit's grammar : modals (we should..., youths can...), purpose (they meet in order to dialogue), present perfect (sport has brought peace).
5. Conclusion : summarise and give your opinion or a recommendation (Let's promote...).
6. Check : subject-verb agreement, tenses, spelling, punctuation ; 120–150 words for a Probatoire composition.

À RETENIRPlan type

Introduction (thesis) – Argument 1 + example – Argument 2 + example – Conclusion (opinion/recommendation). Mots-liens : first, moreover, for instance, as a result, in conclusion.

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 14Guided composition

Write a short composition (about 120 words) on : "How recreational activities can settle community disputes and bring peace."

SOLUTION

Model answer :

In our communities, disputes about land, money or politics often divide neighbours. Fortunately, recreational activities can help to settle these conflicts and bring peace.

First, sport creates friendship. When youths from two rival quarters play football together, they learn to respect one another. For instance, in my village, a peace match was organised in order to reconcile two families, and it succeeded. Moreover, cultural festivals and communal work bring people together : they sing, dance and eat side by side, so that old quarrels are forgotten. As a result, the community becomes united and peaceful.

In conclusion, recreational activities are not only for pleasure ; they are powerful tools for peace. Our school authorities should therefore promote games and festivals. Let's all take part in them!

Why this is a good copy : clear 3-paragraph plan ; link words (first, moreover, for instance, as a result, in conclusion) ; unit grammar used correctly (modals can, should ; purpose in order to ; suggestion Let's) ; about 120 words ; no agreement or tense error.

11.7 Fiche méthode 7 : Speaking – échanger des informations sur les fêtes communautaires

MÉTHODE

Exchanging information about community celebrations

1. Prepare question words : When (date), Where (place), Who (people), What (activities), How long (duration), Why (purpose).
2. Ask politely according to the person : Can I... ? to a mate ; May I ask you... ? / Could you tell me... ? to an adult or a school authority.
3. React and keep the conversation going : Really ? That's interesting ! / I see. / And what happens next ?
4. Give information with the unit's vocabulary : take part in, organise, attend, traditional dance, communal work, festival, ceremony.
5. Close the exchange : Thank you for the information. / You're welcome.

À RETENIR

Politesse

Pair/ami : Can I... ? ; Adulte/autorité : May I... ? / Could you... ?

EXERCICE RÉSOLU 15

Dialogue : interviewing a school authority

You want information about your school's cultural week. Complete the interview with the principal's secretary using appropriate questions.

You : Good morning, Madam. (1) ... ?

Secretary : The cultural week will start on Monday 12th May.

You : (2) ... ?

Secretary : It will take place in the school hall and on the playground.

You : (3) ... ?

Secretary : All students may take part in the dances, songs and drama.

You : (4) ... ?

Secretary : You should register with your class teacher before Friday.
You : Thank you very much, Madam.

SOLUTION

(1) The answer gives a date ⇒ question with When, polite register : May I know when the cultural week will start ? / Could you tell me when the cultural week starts?
(2) The answer gives a place ⇒ Where : Where will it take place ?
(3) The answer says who participates ⇒ Who may take part in the activities ?
(4) The answer explains what to do ⇒ What should I do to register ? / How can I register ?
Conclusion : each question matches the information in the answer (question word + correct word order : question word + auxiliary + subject + verb), and the register is polite (May I, Could you, should) because the speaker addresses a school authority.

ATTENTION Five common mistakes that cost marks in the Bac / Cinq erreurs qui coûtent des points au Bac

1. Adding to after a modal : never write must to go, can to play, should to respect. A modal is followed by the bare infinitive (infinitif sans to) – except ought to and have to.
2. Confusing mustn't and needn't/don't have to : mustn't = interdiction (prohibition); needn't = pas d'obligation (no obligation). Swapping them completely changes the meaning.
3. Present perfect with a finished past time : I have seen him yesterday is wrong. With yesterday, last week, ago, use the simple past : I saw him yesterday.
4. Let's followed by the wrong form : never let's to go nor let's going ; always Let's + bare infinitive, and the negative is Let's not + BV (not don't let's).
5. Off-topic composition or no plan : writing without introduction or conclusion, forgetting connectors (first, moreover, as a result), and neglecting subject-verb agreement (he play instead of he plays) lose both language and coherence marks. Always proofread your work.

Sujet : “En tant que président du Comité d'Organisation du Tournoi de Lutte Inter-quartiers, écrivez une lettre formelle d'environ 150 mots au Maire de votre commune pour solliciter son parrainage.”

Contraintes obligatoires :

1. Structure formelle de la lettre (en-têtes, objet, formule d'appel, corps, formule de politesse, signature).
2. Utilisation du Present Perfect pour présenter les antécédents du tournoi (ex : “We have organised three successful editions...”).

cord/nuancé), annonce du plan.

2. Développement (150 mots) : Deux arguments principaux illustrés par des exemples camerounais (ex : lutte traditionnelle, Mbot, course de pirogues, danse).
 - Argument 1 : Cohésion sociale / dialogue intergénérationnel (utiliser Present Perfect pour expériences passées récentes).
 - Argument 2 : Règlement pacifique des conflits / canalisation de l'énergie des jeunes (utiliser modaux should/ought to/must).

13 CORRIGÉS DES EXERCICES

CORRIGÉ Exercice 1 — QCM : Modaux et interactions sociales

1. C) May — The teacher's answer "Yes, you may" confirms the question uses may to ask for formal permission (demander la permission de façon polie). Could is possible but less formal and does not match the answer.
2. A) can — Can expresses here a general possibility (il est possible que le bruit soit fort). Must would express a deduction (too strong without evidence), ought not to and needn't are negative and do not fit the meaning.
3. B) must — The answer "it is our duty" shows a strong obligation (devoir moral), expressed by must. Don't have to (absence of obligation) contradicts the context.
4. C) have to — The principal states an external obligation / rule (obligation extérieure, règlement scolaire), expressed by have to. Can/may/could express permission or possibility, not a rule.

Point de vigilance : ne pas confondre must (obligation ressentie par le locuteur) et have to (obligation imposée par une règle extérieure) ; ne pas confondre don't have to (pas obligé) et mustn't (interdiction).

CORRIGÉ Exercice 2 — Vrai ou Faux justifié : Vocabulaire des fêtes communautaires

1. V (True). A stakeholder (partie prenante) is any person or group with an interest in an event or organisation. Justification : "The quarter head, the school and the parents are all stakeholders of the festival."
2. F (False). Communal work is unpaid collective work done by community members themselves, not by a private company. Justification : "Communal work is free labour done by the inhabitants, for example cleaning the village square."
3. F (False). To mediate (médier) means to help both sides find an agreement without taking sides. Justification : "To mediate a dispute means to listen to both parties and propose a fair solution, not to punish anyone."
4. V (True). Recreational activities (activités récréatives) are leisure activities practised for enjoyment. Justification : "Traditional wrestling, dancing and storytelling are recreational activities that bring people together."

CORRIGÉ

Exercice 3 — Définitions et correspondance : Grammaire – Temps parfaits

Phrase	Structure	Justification (FR)
1. "The elders have settled the dispute."	B) Present Perfect	Action passée avec un résultat visible maintenant (le conflit est réglé, on est en paix). Aucun repère temporel précis n'est donné.
2. "The elders had settled the dispute before the festival started."	A) Past Perfect	Action accomplie avant une autre action passée (the festival started) : c'est l'antériorité (antériorité dans le passé).

Différence de sens : le Present Perfect (have/has + participe passé) relie le passé au présent ; le Past Perfect (had + participe passé) situe une action avant un autre moment du passé.

Point de vigilance : on n'utilise jamais le Present Perfect avec un repère de temps passé terminé (yesterday, last year, in 2020) : dans ce cas, on emploie le Past Simple.

CORRIGÉ Exercice 4 — Application directe : Let's / Let's not

1. Let's organise a cleaning campaign for the school yard tomorrow. (Suggestion positive : Let's + infinitif sans to.)
2. Let's not forget to invite the quarter head to the opening ceremony. (Suggestion négative : Let's not + infinitif sans to.)
3. Let's prepare traditional dishes for the visitors.
4. Let's not make too much noise after 10 p.m. during the festival week.

Point de vigilance : ne jamais écrire Let's to organise ni Let's don't forget : après Let's / Let's not, on utilise toujours l'infinitif sans to (bare infinitive).

CORRIGÉ Exercice 5 — Dialogue complété : Demande d'autorisation

E : Good morning, Chief. May I speak with you for a moment ?

C : Of course, young man. What can I do for you ?

E : We have to organise the end-of-year school festival next Saturday. We must ask for your permission to use the community hall.

C : That is a good initiative. You ought to submit a written request to my office first.

E : Could we bring it tomorrow morning ?

C : Yes, that is fine. But you don't have to worry about the chairs ; the council will provide them.

Justifications :

- May I speak... ? : demande de permission très polie (registre formel).
- have to organise : obligation extérieure (le calendrier scolaire l'impose).
- must ask : obligation ressentie comme nécessaire par le locuteur.
- ought to submit : conseil / recommandation (il serait bien de).
- Could we bring... ? : demande de permission polie.
- don't have to worry : absence d'obligation (ce n'est pas nécessaire).

CORRIGÉ Exercice 6 — Transformation de temps : Past Simple → Present Perfect / Past Perfect

1. The youths have just cleaned the stadium. (just ⇒ Present Perfect : action récente avec résultat présent.)
2. The traditional ruler had already arrived before the dance started. (already + before ⇒ Past Perfect pour l'action antérieure ; started reste au Past Simple.)
3. We have prepared the masks for the ceremony since Monday.
Variante plus naturelle : We have been preparing the masks since Monday. (since ⇒ Present Perfect : action commencée dans le passé, lien avec le présent.)
4. The dispute had ended peacefully by the time the police arrived. (by the time ⇒ Past Perfect pour l'action antérieure ; arrived au Past Simple.)

Point de vigilance : dans les phrases 2 et 4, seule l'action antérieure passe au Past Perfect ; l'autre action reste au Past Simple. Les marqueurs typiques du Present Perfect sont just, already, yet, ever, never, since, for ; ceux du Past Perfect sont before, by the time, after combinés à une autre action passée.

CORRIGÉ Exercice 7 — Réécriture : Exprimer le but, le résultat et la préférence

1. But (purpose) : The community organised a wrestling tournament to promote unity.
ou : The community organised a wrestling tournament in order to promote unity.
2. Résultat : The rain was so heavy that the festival was cancelled.
ou : It was such heavy rain that the festival was cancelled.
(so + adjectif + that ; such + (adjectif +) nom + that.)
3. Préférence : Young people prefer dancing to modern music to (dancing) traditional dances.
ou : Young people would rather dance to modern music than (dance) traditional dances.
(prefer + -ing + to + -ing ; would rather + infinitif sans to + than + infinitif sans to.)
4. Obligation : You have to respect the elders ; it is a rule.
ou : You must respect the elders. (have to insiste sur la règle extérieure ; must sur le devoir.)

Point de vigilance : dans prefer X to Y, le to est une préposition (suivie d'un nom ou d'un -ing), pas la particule de l'infinitif ; dans would rather X than Y, les deux verbes sont à l'infinitif sans to.

CORRIGÉ Exercice 8 — Compréhension orale simulée : Travail communautaire

1. The communal work was about cleaning the drainage canals of the quarter. (Le travail communautaire consistait à nettoyer les caniveaux.)
2. Two neighbours argued about the boundary of their plots. (Deux voisins se sont disputés à propos de la limite de leurs parcelles.)
3. The quarter head mediated the dispute : he listened to both sides and proposed a fair solution. (Il a joué le rôle de médiateur sans prendre parti.)
4. The modal of obligation is had to (past of have to) : “All residents had to clean the drainage canals.” It expresses an external obligation imposed by the quarter head’s call.

CORRIGÉ Exercice 9 — Sujet type Probatoire : Dialogue formel – Fête de fin d’année

Modèle de dialogue (corrigé-type) :

Delegate (D) : Good morning, Sir. May I come in?

Quarter Head (Q) : Good morning, young man. Yes, you may. What brings you here?

D : I am the class delegate of Première Technique. Our school would like to organise the end-of-year celebration, and we must find a large hall. Could we use the community hall on Saturday 20th June?

Q : That is an interesting project. Who are the stakeholders of this event?

D : The students, the teachers, the parents’ association and the school authorities, Sir.

Q : I see. You ought to send me an official letter signed by your principal.

D : Of course, Sir. We have to present the programme of the recreational activities as well, don’t we?

Q : Exactly. But you don’t have to pay for the electricity ; the council will cover it.

D : Thank you very much, Sir. We promise to organise communal work to clean the hall after the festival.

Q : Very good. If any dispute arises during the preparations, come and see me and I will help you mediate it.

D : We are grateful for your permission and your advice, Sir.

Q : You are welcome. Good luck with your festival!

Vérification des consignes :

- 12 répliques (10–12 exigées) : respecté.
- Modaux utilisés : may, must, could, ought to, have to, don’t have to (6 ≥ 4).
- Vocabulaire : celebration, stakeholders, recreational activities, communal work, mediate, permission (6 ≥ 5).

- Politesse formelle : Good morning Sir, May I come in ?, We are grateful....

Barème indicatif (10 pts) : respect du nombre de répliques et du registre formel (2 pts); variété et correction des modaux (3 pts); vocabulaire thématique (2 pts); cohérence du dialogue (2 pts); orthographe et ponctuation (1 pt).

Points de vigilance : saluer avant toute demande; utiliser May/Could I... ? pour la permission (pas I want...); ne pas confondre don't have to (pas obligé) et mustn't (interdit).

CORRIGÉExercice 10 — Sujet type Baccalauréat Technique : Lettre formelle – Parainage tournoi de lutte

Modèle de lettre (corrigé-type, environ 150 mots) :

The Organising Committee President
Inter-Quarter Wrestling Tournament
P.O. Box 123, Douala
15th May 2026

To His Worship the Mayor of Douala III

Subject : Request for Sponsorship of the Inter-Quarter Wrestling Tournament

Dear Sir,

I am writing on behalf of the Organising Committee to request your sponsorship for our traditional wrestling tournament, scheduled for August 2026.

We have organised three successful editions since 2023, and each one has strengthened community cohesion and youth empowerment in our municipality. Moreover, the tournament offers young people a peaceful way to spend their energy. However, our budget is limited this year; we must find 500 000 FCFA for equipment and security. Your support could make a decisive difference. Therefore, we kindly ask for your patronage. Participants ought to respect strict rules, so the event must be a model of fair play. Consequently, your image as a promoter of peace will be reinforced.

We remain at your disposal for any further information.

Yours faithfully,

Signature

Ngo Bell Jean, President

Vérification des contraintes :

- Structure formelle complète : en-têtes, date, objet, Dear Sir, corps, Yours faithfully, signature.
- Present Perfect : have organised, has strengthened.
- Modaux : must (obligation), could (possibilité), ought to (recommandation), must (déduction dans "must be a model").

- Connecteurs : Moreover, However, Therefore, Consequently.
- Vocabulaire : sponsorship, wrestling, community cohesion, youth empowerment, budget.

Barème indicatif (20 pts) : structure formelle de la lettre (4 pts); grammaire : modaux et Present Perfect (5 pts); connecteurs logiques (3 pts); vocabulaire spécifique (4 pts); pertinence du contenu et longueur (3 pts); orthographe et présentation (1 pt).

Points de vigilance : Yours faithfully (et non sincerely) quand le destinataire n'est pas nommé par son nom; le Present Perfect exige have/has + participe passé (organised, pas organize dans un contexte britannique cohérent); citer au moins un chiffre concret (budget, éditions) renforce la crédibilité.

CORRIGÉ Exercice 11 — Sujet type Baccalauréat Technique : Composition guidée – Jeux traditionnels et paix

Modèle de composition (corrigé-type, environ 250 mots) :

Introduction (environ 50 mots). In many Cameroonian villages, the sound of drums announces wrestling matches and canoe races. Traditional games are sporting and cultural activities inherited from our ancestors, such as wrestling, the Mbot game and traditional dances. I strongly agree that they are powerful tools for peacebuilding, because they create social cohesion and help to settle disputes peacefully.

Développement (environ 150 mots). Firstly, traditional games strengthen social cohesion and intergenerational dialogue. During the Ngondo festival, for example, elders and youths have shared the same canoe races for decades, and these events have brought rival quarters closer together. Moreover, traditional wrestling in the North West and Far North regions gathers whole villages around the same arena : people forget their differences and celebrate together.

Secondly, games channel the energy of young people and prevent conflicts. A young man who trains for a wrestling tournament should learn discipline and respect for rules; he ought not to fight in the streets. Chiefs and elders must use these gatherings to mediate disputes, as they have always done. Therefore, the playground becomes a school of peace.

Contre-argument (environ 50 mots). However, traditional games can sometimes provoke violence or tribal rivalry when they are badly organised. To avoid this, authorities should supervise the competitions, apply clear rules and punish unfair behaviour.

Conclusion (environ 30 mots). In conclusion, traditional games truly build peace when they are well supervised. Schools and local authorities should promote them, and let's all take part in them!

Vérification du plan et des contraintes :

- Plan en 4 parties respecté; environ 250 mots au total.
- Present Perfect : have shared, have brought; modaux : should, ought not to, must; Let's en conclusion.

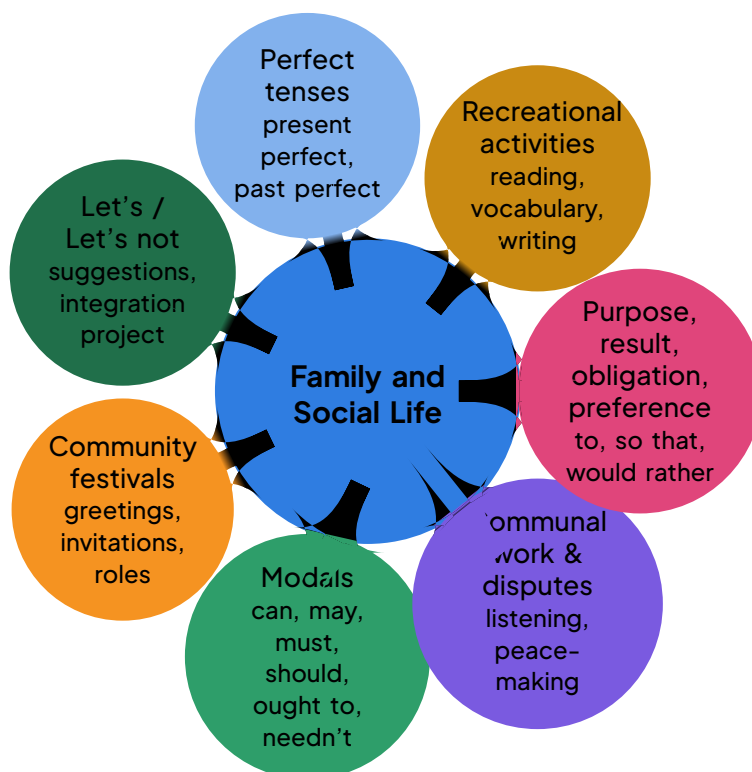

- Exemples camerounais : Ngondo (courses de pirogues du peuple Sawa, à Douala), lutte traditionnelle du Nord-Ouest et de l'Extrême-Nord, Mbot.
- Connecteurs : Firstly, Secondly, Moreover, Therefore, However, In conclusion.

Application de la grille d'évaluation (20 pts) :

- Respect du plan et nombre de mots ($250 \pm 10\%$) : 4 pts
- Grammaire (modaux, Present/Past Perfect, Let's) : 5 pts
- Vocabulaire thématique (fêtes, conflits, paix, communauté) : 4 pts
- Cohérence, connecteurs, ponctuation : 4 pts
- Pertinence des exemples camerounais : 3 pts

Points de vigilance : annoncer clairement sa thèse dès l'introduction ; chaque argument doit être illustré par un exemple camerounais précis ; le contre-argument ne doit pas détruire la thèse mais la nuancer ; vérifier l'accord sujet-verbe au Present Perfect (has à la 3^e personne du singulier).

14 FICHE BILAN

Carte mentale de la leçon : les sept blocs de savoirs autour du thème Family and Social Life (fêtes communautaires, modaux, travail communautaire, but/résultat/préférence, activités récréatives, temps parfaits, suggestions).

À RETENIR L'essentiel de la leçon

1. Key vocabulary (à connaître par cœur)

- Festivals : celebration, feast, traditional dance, chief, invitation, to take part in, to organise, to welcome guests.

2. Plan : introduction, two or three body paragraphs, conclusion.
3. Use link words : first, then, moreover, as a result, finally.
4. Check grammar : modals, perfect tenses, spelling, punctuation.

ATTENTION Pièges fréquents à éviter

- Après un modal, toujours la base verbale (infinitif sans to) : You must to respect est faux ; écris You must respect.
- Ought to garde son to : We ought to help, mais la négation est ought not to help.
- Mustn't (interdiction) n'est pas needn't (absence d'obligation) : You mustn't smoke (interdit) ; You needn't come (pas obligé).
- Au present perfect, n'emploie jamais un marqueur de temps passé précis : I have seen him yesterday est faux ; dis I saw him yesterday ou I have just seen him.

- Let's est suivi de la base verbale sans to : Let's to play est faux ; écris Let's play.
