Family and social life

Anglais – classe de Terminale technique

Consigne : Les exercices ci-dessous portent sur l'unité « Family and social life » (entrevues d'embauche, loisirs, besoins linguistiques au travail). Répondez en anglais, de manière structurée et justifiée. Le contexte camerounais est privilégié.

EXERCICE 1 Grammar & Vocabulary : Job Interview Preparation

Context : Ngono, a final-year student at GTHS Kumba, is preparing for an interview at SONARA (Limbe) for a Technician Internship. He is reviewing grammar and specific vocabulary.

1. Tenses in context. Complete the sentences using the Present Perfect Continuous or the Future Continuous form of the verbs in brackets.

(a) By 10 :00 AM tomorrow, Ngono _____ (sit) in the waiting room.

(b) He _____ (revise) his technical notes for three weeks now.

(c) At this time next week, he _____ (undergo) the practical test.

(d) The recruitment panel _____ (review) applications since Monday.

2. Phrasal verbs & Prepositional phrases. Replace the underlined words with a phrasal verb or prepositional phrase from the box (correct form required). Two items are distractors.

look into get along with in charge of put off run out of account for look forward to deal with

(a) Ngono must investigate the company's safety protocols before the interview.

(b) He hopes he will have a good relationship with his future supervisor.

(c) The HR manager is responsible for the technical recruitment section.

(d) Please do not postpone the meeting ; the deadline is tight.

3. Question Tags. Add the correct question tag to each statement.

(a) Ngono has submitted his CV and cover letter, _____ ?

(b) He hasn't had any industrial experience yet, _____ ?

(c) Let's help him simulate the interview, _____ ?

(d) Nobody arrived late for the briefing, _____ ?

EXERCICE 2 Reading & Grammar : Anticipating L2 Needs at Work

Document : Excerpt from a report by the Ministry of Employment and Vocational Training (MINEFOP), Yaoundé, 2023.

« In the Cameroonian professional landscape, official bilingualism (English/French) is a strategic asset. Technicians graduating from GTHS/GTCs are increasingly deployed in multinational environments (e.g., Kribi Deep Sea Port, Lom Pangar Dam sites, or tech hubs in Douala). A recent survey shows that 68% of employers require candidates to switch codes fluently during technical briefings. However, many graduates fall short when writing formal reports in their L2. Anticipating these needs implies mastering technical registers, not just daily conversation. »

1. Vocabulary in context. Explain the meaning of the underlined expressions « switch codes » and « fall short » as used in the text. (2 pts)
2. Embedded Questions (Indirect Questions). A recruiter at Kribi Port wants to know specific details. Rewrite the direct questions as polite embedded questions starting with the prompt given.
 - (a) « Can you write a technical report in English? » → The panel would like to know _____.
 - (b) « Did you study technical drawing terminology in both languages? » → Please tell us _____.
 - (c) « How do you handle a safety instruction given only in French? » → We wonder _____.
3. Embedded Statements (Reported Speech). Report the following statement made by a former GTHS student, Atangana, during a conference. Use the introductory verb stated that. « I have been using English technical manuals since my first year. Next month, I will be leading a bilingual team at the new solar plant in Maroua. »

EXERCICE 3 Listening Simulation : Recreational Activities

Scenario : You are the Social Prefect at GTHS Bertoua. You listen to a radio programme on CRTV Adamaoua discussing « Work-Life Balance for Technical Students ». The speaker gives the following schedule for a typical Wednesday. (Assume you have listened ; the data is provided below).

Time	Activity	Language used
07 :00 – 12 :00	Workshop Practice (Welding)	French / Technical English
12 :30 – 13 :30	Lunch Break / Rest	Pidgin / Mother Tongue
14 :00 – 16 :00	Club Activity : English Drama Club	English only
16 :30 – 17 :30	Sports : Handball / Jogging	Mixed
18 :00 – 19 :00	Personal Study (L2 Grammar)	English

1. Data Exploitation. Calculate the total hours dedicated to English-only environments on this Wednesday. Show your calculation. (1 pt)
2. Giving Instructions. Based on the schedule, write three instructions you would give to a new Form 5 student to help them « undergo » (manage/benefit from) this recreational schedule effectively. Use Imperative or Modal verbs (must/should). (3 pts)
3. Future Continuous Application. Write two sentences predicting what the students will be doing at 15 :00 and 18 :30 respectively, based on the table.

EXERCICE 4 Writing : Anticipating Second-Language Needs

Task : You are Fouda, a Terminale T student at GTHS Bamenda. You have just completed a 3-month internship at CAMWATER (Regional Office). The HR Director asks you to write a formal report (180–220 words) titled : « The Necessity of Mastering Technical English for Water Engineering Technicians in Cameroon ».

Your report must :

- Follow standard report format (Title, To, From, Date, Subject, Introduction, Findings, Conclusion/Recommendation).
- Include at least 3 specific technical terms related to water engineering (e.g., pipeline, flow meter, valve, leakage, treatment plant).
- Demonstrate the use of : Present Perfect Continuous (1), Future Continuous (1), one Embedded Question, one Question Tag, two Phrasal Verbs.
- Highlight (underline) the required grammar items in your final copy.

EXERCICE 5 Integration : Simulated Interview Roleplay – Written Mode

Context : A panel interviews Tchinda (Terminale T, Electrotechnics) for a position at ENEO.

1. Receiving Instructions. The Panel Chair reads : « You are required to describe a complex electrical fault you solved during your internship. You must use the Past Perfect and Passive Voice. You have 2 minutes. »

Rewrite these instructions as an Embedded Statement (Reported Speech) for your classmate who arrived late. Start with : The Chair instructed the candidate that...

2. Candidate's Response (Grammar Focus). Tchinda starts his answer : « By the time the supervisor arrived, the faulty circuit breaker _____ (already / replace) by my team, and we _____ (identify) the root cause for two hours. »
Complete the gaps with the correct tense (Past Perfect Passive / Past Perfect Continuous).
3. Closing Interaction. The interview ends. Write the Question Tag for the Chair's closing remark : « That was a brilliant demonstration, _____ ? »
4. Vocabulary Precision. Tchinda wants to say he « looked up » the technical specifications in the manual. Is « looked up » appropriate here ? Justify your answer (Yes/No + reason) and provide a better phrasal verb if necessary.
